GOAL OF NIRA
TO BE PASSED
BY LABOR DAYSPEAKING CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED UNDER BLUE EAGLE

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22 (Tuesday) (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, reported just after midnight this morning to President Roosevelt that the involved negotiations for a coal code were progressing satisfactorily.

BY JAMES P. SELVAGE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—A new objective—the placing in the hands of President Roosevelt by tomorrow, perhaps, and Wednesday at the latest codes of fair competition for the coal and automobile industries—tonight was the aim of Hugh S. Johnson.

Both codes were nearing completion, N. R. A. officials said, and

STRIKE AT CHICAGO
Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—Charging employers had failed to live up to the Blue Eagle placards in their windows, 10,000 garment workers were on strike in Chicago tonight.

The workers, mostly women, walked away from their tables and sewing machines at 10 a. m. today, met in mass meetings and pledged themselves to remain away until pay was increased and working hours shortened.

Bernard Shane, president of the International Ladies' Garment Union, charged many of the employers had signed the blanket N. R. A. code but were paying employees as little as $4 a week. He said he had obtained affidavits and paychecks to prove his allegations.

at behind the scenes conferences the administration was seeking an agreement which would add charges of these two major industries to the recovery package.

Prices Watched
Meanwhile, the cabinet advisory board of the recovery administration decided as a step to protect the public against profiteering to request all industries now operating under codes to submit information on recent price increases.

In addition, at the suggestion of the newly created central statistical board of the government, each code approved in the future would include provisions requiring the submission of such statistical information as may be necessary by the administration.

This decision marked the first of the long-planned moves by Johnson to keep tab on rising prices and prevent them from soaring upward faster than the purchasing power of the nation can be stimulated.

Still Tangled
Both the coal and automobile situations were still badly entangled tonight but Johnson was hopeful that an agreement would be obtained.

At an intensive conference with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and other labor leaders he sought into the night to find a common meeting ground for his own views and the spokesmen for the miners. Once that is obtained he will carry the proposal to the operators.

Dixie's Watermelon Queen

The universe takes in a lot of territory, but most of its inhabitants won't be disposed to quarrel with the farmers of Yalobusha county, Miss., who named Miss Mary Eleanor Harris, above, 16, of Water City, as "watermelon queen of the universe" to reign at their annual festival. Luscious watermelons, we gather, aren't the only attractions in Yalobusha county.

HOSPITAL PAID
IN BABY SALES

Infants Bring $70 to $100 in Tulsa; Not Against Law

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 21 (AP)—Miss Helen Schaeffer, director of the Tulsa Children's Service Bureau, said today a fifth baby had been "sold" here recently to pay hospital costs of its unmarried mother.

Miss Schaeffer, whose discovery that four other infants had been sold for $70 to $100 led to an investigation by the state commissioner of charities and corrections, said she expected "to find new cases every now and then."

"We have not reached the end of our investigation," she said. "All our findings will be turned over the Tulsa county medical society in due time."

Mrs. Mable Bassett, state charities commissioner, had returned to Oklahoma City today after examining the evidence Miss Schaeffer obtained, and is preparing a report for Dr. Carl Simpson, society secretary. The society will study the report at its next meeting, September 11.

There is no state law that prohibits such transactions, and foster parents who purchase the children are permitted by law to keep them without a hearing to assure they maintain proper homes.

Urschel Kidnaping
Evidence Complete

Oklahoma City, Aug. 21 (AP)—The district attorney Herbert K. Hyde declared today, to put the kidnapers of Charles E. Urschel behind prison bars for life without calling the oil millionaire as a witness.

The evidence will be placed before a federal grand jury, called to convene Wednesday to return indictments against 11 suspects in the kidnaping.

Official Injured
In Car Ferry Fall

Manitowoc, Wis., Aug. 21 (AP)—Leland H. Kent of Ludington, Mich., steamship superintendent of the Pere Marquette car ferry line, was seriously injured today in a 35 foot fall from the bow of a car ferry into the Manitowoc river. Several vertebrae were fractured as he struck the side of the ship.

Children Guarding
Russian Grain Crop

Moscow, Aug. 21 (AP)—About 100,000 children are being organized in "light cavalry detachments" to guard against grain thefts and retrieve stray kernels dropped by harvesters in the north Caucasus fields.

The government is providing shelter and food on the collective farms for these youthful organizations charged with protecting "the socialist crop." Rewards of 1,000 rubles of clothing are to be distributed to the more energetic.

Two Trucks Crash;
Carry 4 to Death

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 21 (AP)—Raked by flames and blown apart by an explosion of highly inflammable chemicals, two trucks carried four picknickers to their death today after they crashed on the Wilmington-Philadelphia Pike at Holy Oak, Del.

Twenty other merry-makers were injured, three of them seriously, in the collision of their truck with another vehicle loaded with drums of chemicals, described as soluble cotton, an alcoholic base used as a raw material in the chemical industry.

The dead were Jennie Chlasi, 19, of Trainer, Pa.; Daniel Mahoney, 20; Henry Cummings, 27, and Francis Gaskill, 26, all of Chester, Pa. The injured all were from Chester and Marcus Hook, Pa.

Henry J. Knott, driver of the chemical truck, which was en route from Baltimore to the Hercules Powder company plant at New Brunswick, N. J., told police he "suddenly saw the other truck loom up." His vehicle crashed into the rear of the other truck, which Knott said bore no tail light.

"I managed to get out of my cab," he said. "I saw people lying all around. It was awful. Both vehicles were torn apart by the explosion soon after the crash. Several automobiles were tossed from the highway by the detonation, and a few were burned."

The picknickers were returning from an outing at White Crystal Beach, near Chesapeake City, Md. Police said the merry-makers' truck carrying 26 persons, had stopped at the side of the road when the crash occurred.

SLEEP SICKNESS
IS FATAL TO 14

Strange Malady Centers in St. Louis and Kansas City

St. Louis, Aug. 21 (AP)—The fourteenth death from "sleeping sickness" was reported here today as the epidemic showed no sign of abatement, and deaths were reported from two other cities, Kansas City, Kas., and Warrensburg, Mo.

Miss Vivian Freeman, 20, of suburban Carsonville, died here today despite use of artificial respiration and an inhalator. The other victim was Robert Ramst, 27, of Williston, northwest suburb. Mrs. Effie Brooks, of Ottawa, Kas., died in a Kansas City hospital, and the death of Mrs. James E. Rutherford of Mars Hill, N. C., was reported at Warrensburg.

Two other cases were reported in greater Kansas City. Three of the cases in isolation hospital here, were described as "grave" by hospital attaches. A number of patients who suffered lighter attacks of the strange malady were ready for discharge from the hospital but awaited the end of the three-week isolation period prescribed to prevent their carrying the disease to others.

The seriousness of the epidemic which in addition to taking thirteen victims, has sent 137 cases to St. Louis hospitals, was reflected today in the arrival from Washington, of Dr. Charles Armstrong, United States public health service pathologist.

Menominee Firms
Suing Railroads
Over Surcharges

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Central West Coal Co., Menominee, Mich., in a complaint to the interstate commerce commission, has asked damages for $6,000 from the Baltimore and Ohio and 28 other railroads, for alleged collection of unfair surcharges.

The complaints said that the company had paid unjust charges on shipments of coal from its docks at Menominee to various Wisconsin points.

The Limestone Products company, of Menominee, also complained to the commission against the Chicago & Northwestern railway company and ten other railroads, asking $1,680 damages for alleged unjust collection of surcharges for shipments of limestone products from Menominee to Wisconsin points.

Unable to stand the pain, the man then arose and putting on stockings and shoes over the burnt flesh, he walked two miles to the nearest neighbor and was later rushed to Gladstone where first aid was administered and then to the hospital here.

The unfortunate victim was born in Gladstone where he attended school later residing with his family at Stonington.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Smith of Stonington, two brothers, Arthur and Carl, and two sisters.

The body was taken to the Swenson Brothers funeral parlors to be prepared for burial. No funeral arrangements have been made pending locating a brother, Arthur, who is employed on a lake freighter. An attempt is being made to advise him of the death when the boat goes through the locks at the Soo.

Major Parker Gets Post In Philippines

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—Almost a score of high army officers were shifted from post to post under orders issued today by the war department.

Major General Frank Parker, in command at the Sixth Corps Area, Chicago, was ordered to sail from San Francisco about November 23 to assume command of the Philippines department.

Major General Preston Brown, in charge at the Panama Canal department, will take charge of the Sixth Corps Area.

Two persons were slain and an effort was made to lynch a third in the Santiago district of Oriente province.

Julio Heredia, former benchman of Major Arsenio Ortiz, was shot and killed by a mob in Santiago and his body was dragged through the streets. Members of the ABC revolutionary society had taken Heredia from the courthouse when he was seized by the mob.

Major Ortiz, who is accused of numerous political killings, was sent to Germany last June by the government. Machado foes asserted this action was taken so that he might escape court martial.

A policeman, Luis de Spayne, was shot and killed at Palma Soriano.

Later in the day an attempt was made to lynch Municipal Police Chief Hechevarria in Santiago after he had been arrested. An ABC guard was thrown about him, however, and a speaker induced the crowd to desist. Hechevarria was taken to prison.

Jose R. Barcelo, governor of Oriente province, hunted since he held from Santiago after the downfall of the Machado regime, surrendered to soldiers late today after he had been surrounded in a house here. He immediately was taken to Castillo de la Fuerza and later to Principe Fortress.

The problem of keeping order fell largely to Secretary of War Demetrio Castillo, and he sought to meet it by issuing still stricter orders to troops to prevent sackings of farms and homes belonging to men of the Machado regime.

KATES FOREST
CAMP WORKER
FATALLY HURTMYSTERY SHROUDS
LOWER MICHIGAN
MAN'S DEATH

Laverne H. Daniels, 21, Marine City, member of the Civilian Conservation Corps' camp at Kates, died early Sunday morning while he was being rushed to a hospital after he had been picked up by a motoring party, whose automobile ran over his body as he lay in the middle of Highway 426, near Cornell.

The automobile was driven by William Mashek of Escanaba. The other occupants were: Cheever Buckbee, Jr., Ned Buckbee, Robert Heminger, Lorraine Bailargeon, Floris Fredericksen, Marian Erickson and Elma Ledue.

Foul Play Indicated
Mashek told Sheriff William E. Miron that he saw the young man lying on the road too late to bring his car to a stop before passing over him. The driver said that when he and his companions went to pick up Daniels, he was still moaning and gasping. They put him into the car, but he died as they were speeding with him toward Escanaba.

Sheriff Miron expressed the opinion that Daniels had been the victim of foul play, and said that there were indications that the young man had been probably thrown out of some other car. This theory was based on the fact that Daniels bore a large scalp wound, but there was scarcely any blood on the gravel road or in the Mashek car. Apparently, the youth had bled elsewhere.

The presence of two deep heel-prints in the road where the body was found also leads to the theory that Daniels was thrown out of a car.

Inquest Today
The inch-long gash on Daniels' head was located just above the right ear. His nose was also bruised. His right arm and chest also bore marks, apparently caused when the automobile wheel passed over his body. It is also believed his skull was fractured.

Identification of Daniels was made by Harvey Jones, Marine City, also a member of the Kates forestry camp crew. Officers of the camp and several other young men, who are reported to have left the camp with Daniels on week-end furlough, will come to Escanaba to testify at the inquest that will be held this afternoon.

The body was taken to the Alto Funeral Home to be prepared for burial.

CHICAGO IS NOT MURDER CENTER

Jacksonville, Florida, at Top of List in Crime Survey

Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—Jacksonville, Fla., led the nation in rate of murders per capita, during 1932 according to a survey just completed by Frederick Rex, librarian for the city of Chicago, while this city, much publicized as the haunt of the gangster, ranked 26th.

Rex made a survey of 55 cities having a population of more than 100,000. His statistics were based upon figures furnished by police reports to the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, and other figures regarded by him as authentic.

The table placed Jacksonville, Fla., at the top of the list for 1932 with 61 murders, a ratio of 43.88 for each 100,000 population. In 1931 the city ranked second with 47 murders and a ratio of 35.87. In 1931, Birmingham, Ala., led.

Detroit is listed for 56 murders, a ratio of 5.58 per 100,000. Rex's table showed the following cities as reporting no murders in 1932.

Fall River, Mass.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Lowell, Mass.; New Bedford, Mass.; Reading, Pa.; South Bend, Ind.; and Utica, N. Y.

He also found his son, Arthur, 18, shooting him twice in the back with a shot gun, officers allege.

The killing was the sequence of years of domestic difficulties, according to both Viaches and his son, during which the couple were divorced in 1926 and remarried in 1927.

The boy's story is that he and his brother, Leo, 29, were cutting corn in back field, when they saw their father in the brush nearby. Arthur started to run. The father shot twice, striking the boy in the back. The older brother summoned help and the boy was brought to the hospital here.

When officers arrived at the home, they found Mrs. Viaches dead, near the porch, and Viaches nearby, with his throat and wrists slashed.

Physicians say that Viaches probably will die, but that the boy's wounds are not serious.

Viaches told a story of domestic trouble.

Slayer Of Mother
Now Prison Inmate

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 21 (AP)—Balfie Macdonald, 17, convicted of slaying his mother in their Flint home on May 27, spent tonight in a quarantine cell at Jackson state prison where he was brought from Flint today to begin a 10 to 15 year sentence for manslaughter.

Balfie was given the number 34,209, and placed in an isolation cell where he will remain for ten days or two weeks before assuming his regular duties as an inmate.

DELTA'S STATE
TAX IS $9,830

Only Two Counties Get Small Reductions in Valuations

Lansing, Aug. 21 (AP)—The state board of equalization today fixed the total property valuation of the state at $5,829,284,000, a reduction of only $1,500,000 under the $5,830,784,000 tentative valuation recommended by the state tax commission.

Oakland and Berrien counties were the only ones accorded reductions in their valuations, by the board at the conclusion of a one-day hearing on the tentative figures. Protests at the hearings were of the mildest variety in years. The Oakland valuation was reduced $1,000,000 while Berrien's was cut $500,000.

The actual reduction received at the hands of the board by the two counties is negligible. Oakland's state tax will be reduced $750 by the drop in valuation and Berrien's only $250. The other 81 counties will stand the increase. With Wayne paying almost half the state tax, its levy will be raised about $550.

M. M. McPherson, chairman of the board, said the total state property tax this year probably will be fixed next month by the state administrative board at $5,500,000.

The 1932 property tax following the special session of the legislature last year was just under $23,500,000. The recent legislature, enacted the sales tax law to replace the property levy except for the two leading educational institutions.

The approximate state tax to be paid by some of the counties on a basis of a total property levy of $3,500,000 includes:

Baraga $3,995, Barry $12,018, Berrien $45,360, Chippewa $12,644, Delta $9,830, Gogebic $25,626, Houghton $14,371, Iron $15,010, Kent $160,562, Jackson $63,117, Keweenaw $4,118, Marquette $26,820, Menominee, $10,327, Ontonagon $4,835.

Farmer Charged With Murder Of Wife; Son Shot

Owosso, Mich., Aug. 21 (AP)—Walter Viaches, 65, Woodhull township farmer, is under arrest in Memorial hospital, facing a charge of first degree murder in connection with the alleged slaying of his wife, Mary, 49, late this afternoon. He also wounded his son, Arthur, 18, shooting him twice in the back with a shot gun, officers allege.

The killing was the sequence of years of domestic difficulties, according to both Viaches and his son, during which the couple were divorced in 1926 and remarried in 1927.

Timber Damage
Runs In Millions
In Oregon Blaze

Forest Grove, Ore., Aug. 21 (AP)—A gigantic forest fire which had swept through 14 miles of timber on a ten mile front was fought by more than 1,000 men along the Washington-Tillamook county line in the Wilson river country today.

The fire, believed Saturday night to have been brought under control, flared violently into new life late Sunday when a strong west wind scattered the smoking embers into small tree growth.

Forestry officials said the conflagration will rank as one of the worst forest fires in Oregon in the memory of man. Damage to ripe, virgin timber will run into millions of dollars, they declared, with more thousands of dollars in damage being wrought hourly as flames sweep into other fine stands of timber.

COUZENS ADDS
MORE DETAILS
ON BANK FLOPCONDITIONS KNOWN
NEARLY A YEAR,
SAYS CRITIC

Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, former president of the United States, is to be asked to testify in the open grand jury investigation of the closing of Detroit's two big national banks.

The decision to ask Mr. Hoover who was president when Detroit banking difficulties came to a crisis last February, to accept a subpoena was reached after United States Senator James Couzens had voiced a request for the former president's testimony while giving evidence before the jury today.

"Dangerous Man"
Whether the former president will be asked to come to Detroit in person or make a deposition at his home on Palo Alto has not been decided. The first steps in securing his testimony were taken by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy and Circuit Judge Harry B. Keelan, who constitutes the one-man jury, after a conference tonight.

Senator Couzens' request for Mr. Hoover's testimony was made during his listing today of certain unnamed persons who, he said, had obtained loans from the closed banks which they would be unable to repay. While discussing one such debtor he said:

"There is one director who was told by President Hoover that I was a very dangerous man. . . . At this particular time I want to urge the attorney general and the prosecutor to invite Mr. Hoover to come here and tell what a bad man I am."

Courtroom Startled
Senator Couzens did not reveal the name of the director he was referring to.

During his testimony before the jury today Senator Couzens made the declaration that the federal government knew of "deplorable conditions" in the First National Bank-Detroit as early as May, 1932, nearly a year before it closed, along with a series of blistering criticisms of Detroit banking methods.

The senior Michigan senator, appearing for his third day of testimony before an open grand jury investigating the closing of the First National and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce following the Michigan bank holiday February 14, started a packed courtroom by a sudden reading of what he said were reports of federal bank examiners detailing "bad practices" in the First National. The reports, he said, were made in May and November, 1932.

Feared Epidemic
"There are at least $70,000,000 of slow assets, and $54,000,000 of doubtful assets, not including loans on Detroit Bankers company (the First National Holding company) stock which is classified as slow but should be considered doubtful," quoted the senator, reading from the examiners' report. "There are $49,000,000 loss assets. How the institution will ever work out cannot be foretold." This, Couzens said, was from a report made last November.

Because "the powers that be were not anxious to start an epidemic of bank closings in a political year," the senator declared, only a moderate write-down of losses was required at the time.

"Undoubtedly," he declared, "the government should have done something to protect the depositors and protect people from depositing any more money. But it was a matter of judgment. If I bank had closed in May, 1932, I don't know if the depositors would have gotten more or less than from the closing when it did come."

FOUR DEFEATS PUZZLE VINES

Prospects Not So Good Against Crawford in National Singles

BY BILL KING
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Brookline, Mass., Aug. 21 (AP)—Four straight defeats have made Ellsworth Vines, national tennis champion, puzzled but not worried.

The lanky Pasadena, who holds the unique record of winning both the American and British titles before reaching his majority last September, was musing over his prospects today as he watched the rain wash away the opening round of the national doubles play at Longwood, where he and Keith Gledhill will defend their team championship.

Vines appeared as if he had forgotten the five-set defeat Jack Crawford of Australia gave him in the Wimbledon final this year and his Davis cup failures against Fred Perry and H. W. "Bunny" Austin in the interzone finals with England. But the memory of Frank X. Shields' straight-set decision over him at Newport last week still was painful.

Tennis observers who accompanied Vines through Europe and were with him at Newport last week, were not very hopeful about his chances if he meets Crawford in the national singles tourney. And they considered Perry and Shields only a little less dangerous to Vines' title-defending hopes.

Need Good Weather

Longwood officials, with a day ahead, did not despair when forced to postpone the national doubles opening until tomorrow. With good weather the rest of the week, they hoped to bring the team play to a close on Saturday. They had planned to spread the four quarter-final matches over Wednesday and Thursday but the new order demanded a round a day. More unfavorable weather, however, will disrupt the plans for the national mixed, veterans' and father-son competitions that will also be run off this week.

The draw, made with 32 teams, was topped by Vines and Gledhill and seven other American pairs were seeded. Crawford and Vivian McGrath, the "two-fisted" backhand stroker, head the list of four foreign seeded teams with Perry and Frank H. D. Wilde of England, second.

Vines and Gledhill drew Lieutenants James Farrin and Gerald Smith, the Navy team from Portsmouth, N. H., as their opening rivals and the top-seeded Australians were due to encounter Thomas Flynn, Bayside, L. I., and John Ray of Cambridge.

Crawford, who has won the Australian, French and British singles titles this season, today revealed some of his party's plans while in the United States. Following upon the national singles early next month, the Australians will engage a picked American team in Chicago as a Century of Progress feature. Crawford and McGrath intend to sail for home from San Francisco on Sept. 19, leaving Adrian Quist and Don Trumbull behind to play in the Pacific coast championships at San Francisco, Sept. 30 to Oct. 8.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy's appraisal of University of Chicago 1933 grid prospects is just like those of recent years: "A good first team, but so short of reserves a sustained run of injuries could ruin us."

Now We'll See Some Real 'Muscling In'

Perkins Wallops White Sox By 11-1

Perkins defeated the Escanaba White Sox Sunday, 11 to 1. Miron set the Sox down with only four hits and struck out 10 men.

Sharkey carried off batting honors with three hits out of five trips to the plate. LaBresh had the longest hit of the game, a triple.

Perkins would like to hook a game for August 27 and also for September dates.

Husband and Wife Make Hole In One

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 21 (AP)—Wife joined husband today in membership in the Marquette golf and country club's "hole-in-one" club when Mrs. M. J. Sherwood sank her tee shot on the "ace" hole, No. 3 green, a 120-yard shot and became the fourth player this year to accomplish the feat.

Mr. Sherwood was the first member of the club to make a hole-in-one on the Marquette course. Since then seven others have been made, six of them were scored on No. 3.

Mrs. Sherwood is the second woman here to make a hole-in-one, the other being made a few weeks ago on the same hole by Mrs. L. G. Brott.

COASTAL BLOW TAKES 7 LIVES

Wreckage Comes Ashore; Small Craft Forced to Take Shelter

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 21 (AP)—Small craft along the Jersey coast hugged their berths tonight as a storm, already responsible for seven deaths, rose in intensity.

Storm warnings, issued by the weather bureau in Washington, indicated the heaviest blows would fall late tonight or early tomorrow, the wind increasing to gale velocity. Coast guardsmen, patrolling the perilous seas, which hourly cast up fresh pieces of wreckage, urged the owners of small boats to stay ashore.

They were also trying today to identify a capsized ship carrying the license number L-8042, which was washed ashore at Ocean City. Its occupants have not been accounted for, and it is feared they may have been lost.

All others of the 100 or more fishing craft and speed boats, trapped offshore in yesterday's freak wind storm, have been accounted for. The last of them, the Gertrude R. was located today in the inlet at Ocean City after she had weathered the high seas that swamped several of the other craft.

Four of the bodies of those who were lost have been recovered.

No Great Value Given to First Postage Stamp

London (AP)—Great Britain bears the distinction of being the first to issue official government stamps. The date was May 6, 1840.

While stamps of one sort or another began appearing in some parts of the world, particularly the United States around that time or shortly afterward, they were not governmentally sanctioned. Payment for the carrying of letters went to private individuals or companies.

This first official stamp, known as "the one-penny black," is on white paper and bears the head of Queen Victoria. In the two lower corners of each stamp are different initials, this plan being adopted in an effort to avoid counterfeiting.

Although the "first" stamp it does not have such a tremendous high rating among collectors today because it is not regarded as rare. However, a good used copy will bring $2, an unused $12.

Issuance of the stamp created wide interest, for it was quite a novel thing to send letters in this new manner. Envelopes were not so easily obtainable then; one just folded the letter with the writing inside and placed the stamp and address on the blank outside.

Italy Gets Michigan Man On Extradition

Detroit, Aug. 18 (AP)—Francesco Perre, 36, left today for his native Italy, in custody of a U. S. deputy marshal, to face a charge of murder. In New York, he will be placed in charge of Capt. Francesco Tarabotto, master of the steamship Rex, and taken in irons to Naples.

Perre was arrested at the instigation of Italian authorities upon his release from the state prison at Jackson in May and was extradited on a 13-year-old murder charge. He is the first man ever to be extradited from Michigan to Italy.

COUZENS ADDS MORE DETAILS ON BANK FLOP

against his bank and its officials, the senator, declining to present his authority because he said he "does not want to pillory anybody," told the jury that "there has been all kinds of 'kiting' of checks in an effort to mislead the public" as to the actual condition of the Detroit banks.

He cited what he declared was one example of the "serious condition" in banking interests here. On one occasion, he said, the Detroit Trust company "got $6,000,000 from the First National Bank-Detroit, then turned around and deposited this amount with the First National Bank-Detroit as a trust fund."

"The net effect of this," he said, "was to show that each bank had $6,000,000 in cash more than it actually had."

Reading of the examiners' reports brought a dramatic climax to the white-haired senator's testimony, as the investigating jury for many weeks had sought to obtain, with no success, federal reports concerning the closed national banks here. The senator, while refusing to give the names of the examiners, calmly read the unexpected federal reports into the records as the crowded courtroom gasped in surprise at the contents.

Father Coughlin Next
Reading from the reports a statement concerning $1,000,000 in loans to employees of the bank of which it was stated "$2,000,000 already is a loss and more will be later," the senator quoted the examiner's November, 1932, report as follows:

"Most of these loans were for the purchase of Detroit Bankers company stock (the holding company). The fall in this stock has broken the morale of the employees and created defalcation dangers. The directors should relieve the employees of this stock. The stock has fallen from more than $200 a share to $5 and is the root of much of the trouble. The bank has about 250,000 shares as collateral for loans. It was a dangerous act to allow such a condition to exist."

In further reading of federal reports, the senator quoted bank examiners as referring to "deplorable conditions of the bank's assets and management." The statement declared that "with two or three exceptions, the executives are weak and unqualified—fair weather bankers who do not know how to cope with present conditions. About 20 key men should be fired and replaced with 12 new men."

The senator did not complete his testimony today, and will return to the stand tomorrow. After him will come the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, who attracted national attention last year by a series of public speeches on the Detroit banking situation.

SHOWERS HELP HELEN TO REST

Bouncing Betty Nuthall
Gets Champ Rattled,
Serves Twice

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 21 (AP)—With the other girls showing neither fear of her game nor compassion for her injured back rain today came to the aid of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody to give her another day of rest before she makes her final bid for her eighth American title in the women's national tennis championships at the West Side Tennis club.

Queen Helen was scheduled to play her final match against either Dorothy Round, leading English challenger, or Helen Jacobs, defending titleholder, tomorrow, but the rain set back that semi-final contest another day and the finals until Wednesday.

Mrs. Moody gained her final brackets yesterday, but only after a bitter three-set encounter with bouncing Betty Nuthall, in which she dropped a set—something she had not done in this country since 1926—and became so rattled she served twice in succession.

Helen's faux pas, comparable to an umpire's allowing Babe Ruth to take four strikes in a world series, caused almost as much comment today as did the 6-2 licking she took from Betty in the first set.

With 13 officials and a gallery of 7,000 watching, apparently only a startled ball boy who declined to give Mrs. Moody the balls for her illegal service until a second, and peremptory demand, noticed the error. By the time it was called to the attention of Referee Rufus Davis it was too late to do anything about it.

As a matter of fact the incident played little or no part in this eventful victory of Mrs. Moody. She lost both games and it was not until after the error that she got the match under control and ran it out 6-3, 6-3.

Betty's rousing stand against the once invincible champion, following as it did on the set Miss Round won from her at Wimbledon, has put treasurable thoughts in the mind of the other girls. For years they have been going weekly out to take their likings, but with the throne tottering all are anxious to get a whirl at Helen and the publicity the first defeat would bring.

In addition to the singles semi-final tomorrow the penultimate round of doubles also will be completed with Mrs. Moody and Eliza both Ryan playing Miss Round and Mary Heeley, the ranking English combination. Freda James and Miss Nuthall yesterday won the other finals berth with a three set victory over Miss Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey, the national champions.

Giant Bass Grown To Please Anglers

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP)—Bigger and better fish stories are in prospect for Indiana fishermen if the Indiana conservation department succeeds in its experiment of growing giant bass.

A "start" was obtained from Reelfoot Lake, Tenn., where bass sometimes attain a weight of 25 pounds amid the protection of express knees, and now 2,000 fingerlings have been "planted" in a state fish hatchery.

A similar experiment to see if larger bass will not develop in Indiana waters is being tried with some great lakes bass.

GOAL OF NIRA TO BE PASSED BY LABOR DAY

While industry heard were summoned back to the capital tomorrow and at that time Robert W. Lee, the deputy administrator, was to lay before them a proposed revised code based upon the hearing last week.

It was understood to contain compromise labor provisions attempting to reconcile the manufacturers' demand for a stipulation that they could continue the open-shop or non-union operation and the demand of labor that all except a plain statement of the act in this regard be deleted.

Fourteen in Effect
There was every indication that once these two major codes are added to the mounting list of enactments under the Blue Eagle banner that Johnson will turn to the fulfillment of his Labor Day goal.

By then, he has forecast that 5,000,000 or more new jobs will have been created, to be supplemented by the normal fall pick-up in business, and in carrying this through efforts are planned to reach every employer either with a permanent code or a temporary presidential agreement.

More than a score of hearings on permanent codes have been held, and a number of reports on these from deputy administrators have been dammed up as Johnson busied himself entirely with the basic industries.

Most of these are expected by officials to be approved formally within the next two weeks by President Roosevelt, adding to the 14 already in effect.

Through the newspapers, on the motion picture screen, and in house-to-house, store-to-store canvasses, efforts will be made to reach every person in the country with the message to "buy now" and "buy under the Blue Eagle."

In addition, business establishments will be warned that where failure to comply with the requirements of the Blue Eagle are found it will be withdrawn, and Johnson believes the taking away of the N. R. A. insignia will mean economic death sentence for the violator.

BY BESS FURMAN (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—In rising crescendo, starting next Monday, the rallying cry of the N. R. A. Blue Eagle will be heard throughout the land.

Recovery headquarters hustled today with final preparations to make the Blue Eagle articulate in a summons to all remaining industries to code-compliance, all consumers to code-cooperation.

One thousand "national speakers" were being assigned to key-city platforms. Twenty-nine thousand local speakers were listed.

Louis Alber, head of the speakers' bureau, announcing final plans for August 28 nationwide, over-the-top movement, said Sunday night has been set for the "army of volunteers" to get their "final marching orders" from General Hugh S. Johnson, "field marshal."

Plenty of martial fanfare was scheduled to help Johnson swing a nation into the spirit of concerted action.

Music by army, navy and marine bands; a speech by Madame Ernestine Schumannheine, who learned how to say stirring things back in World war days when she had sons in the United States and German forces, entertainment by Will Rogers and other mirth producers; addresses too, by the public relations trio of N. R. A., Charles F. Horner, Frank T. Wilson and Alber.

Goitre Sufferers Given Water Cure

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—Because tests at the University of Michigan indicate that excess secretions of the thyroid gland in goitre patients have a "forced draft" effect, two doctors are advising such patients to drink plenty of water and stay in cool places during hot weather.

Dr. Frederick A. Collier and Dr. Walter G. Maddock found that water will be used by the body for cooling purposes through evaporation even if it leaves a shortage for other functions. They also found that goitre patients evaporate as much as two quarts of water a day because more heat is produced by use of food in the body.

LEGION READY FOR ELECTION

Crowd of 75,000 Watch
10,000 in Parade at Grand Rapids

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 21 (AP)—The American Legion today cleared the decks of the state convention for tomorrow's serious business which will be featured by the election of a slate of officers for the coming year and the discussion of a number of controversial resolutions.

Today 10,000 marching men and women, swinging down the city's streets to the music of three score bands and drum corps, participated in the annual parade which was reviewed by Governor Comstock, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Maj. General Frank Parker of Chicago, commanding the sixth corps area national guard, and other dignitaries.

A crowd estimated by Superintendent of Police Mallory Kincaid as 75,000 lined the streets, while confetti and streamers floated down from office buildings upon the marchers. The parade consumed most of the morning hours.

In the afternoon the delegates heard reports of officers and an address of General Parker, who called for a program of "national defense in the United States that will not be subject to periodical changes every time we change an administration." He advocated the gradual upbuilding of reserve strength, and expressed his approval of the R. O. T. C. for this work. Demanding that once an adequate defense is established "it be kept there," he criticized what he termed the present "haphazard conditions" of national defense.

The convention tonight held its annual banquet and heard addresses by Governor Comstock and Senator Vandenberg.

An attempt by upper peninsula poets to place the Legion on record as condemning the present administration in Lansing for the alleged dismissal of veterans from official positions without preferring charges, and allegedly in violation of the veterans preference act, was killed this afternoon by the resolutions committee. The issue was eliminated on grounds that it was of a political nature, and therefore not under the scope of the organization's activities.

BOXING

Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—Solt, Dukelsky, Chicago, scored a technical knockout over Johnny Phagan, Chicago negro welterweight, in the seventh round of an eight round bout tonight.

The fight was fast and close until near the end of the sixth when a left hook opened up a cut over Phagan's eye. His seconds could not patch him up in time for the start of the seventh and the fight was stopped. Dukelsky weighed 147 1/2 pounds, and Phagan scaled 150.

Jury Commissioners Will Not Yield Jobs

Detroit, Aug. 19 (AP)—All three members of the recorder's court board of jury commissioners declared today that they would not accede to Governor Comstock's demand for their resignations, and that "the next move is up to the governor."

John L. Whitehead, president of the board, challenged the governor "to tell the people of Detroit just why he wants to change this commission."

Each of the members of the commission received written requests for their resignations. No reason was given.

Besides Whitehead the members are William A. Hamlin and Mrs. Jean B. Chamberlain. Each has written the governor refusing to resign.

SENATOR KNOWS HIS WASHINGTON

No Criticism, Just Help, Comes from Leader of Republicans

By KIRKE SIMPSON
Washington—About the time President Roosevelt left for the first installment of his bifurcated vacation at Hyde Park, the hardest kind of news to get in Washington was republican news. There just wasn't any.

And that was no mere accident. It represented a definite ascendancy in inner party councils of the views of such stalwarts as Senator Charles McNary of Oregon, former Senator Watson of Indiana and many another party veteran.

McNary remained in Washington long after the special session of congress ended. He was even in and out of the White House a time or two, smiling and cheerful but very uncommunicative so far as voicing criticism of the "new deal" developments was concerned.

What he was after, the republican senate leader said, was a proper share for his state in the public works job-making projects—dams and things like that. He reported the President as viewing his representations very kindly.

Not An Obstructionist
As a matter of fact, the calm and cagey Oregonian, who may play a big role one of these days in republican history, made it a practice from the hour he took over Watson's task as party leader in the senate to cultivate good relations with democratic chiefs.

Half a dozen times Senator Joe Robinson, democratic leader, went out of his way to note in the congressional record how helpful McNary had been in getting all the new deal legislation enacted, how scrupulously he had avoided obstructive tactics, even where a party difference of opinion set him in opposition to what was proposed.

The McNary idea is that it would be worse than useless to buck against the stonewall of obvious popular support for the administration's recovery program at this stage of the game. For that reason he did not like Representative Snell's post-session review of what had happened and made no similar summary on his own account. He was not in favor of the party revival tour National Chairman Everett Sanders started in early summer—and broke off to tour Europe instead.

Won't Force Issues
The point McNary and those republican leaders who share his views make is that issues of the congressional campaigning next year will make themselves or be made by the administration as the recovery program gets out of the organization and into the actual application stage.

For the opposing party now to attempt to set itself on record before the greatest economic experiment in American history is out of its theoretical stage, they contend, would be to take wholly needless risks.

TAX INSPECTOR STARTS WORK

W. A. Thompson Assigned Delta-Menominee District

W. A. Thompson, Escanaba, inspector of the state board of tax administration, yesterday commenced his tour of retail establishments in Escanaba in connection with his sales tax duties.

Inspectors are now occupying their time in assisting merchants to conform with the law instead of auditing their books to find out about violations, Mr. Thompson said. On yesterday's tour, he found several small dealers, who had failed to file a sales tax return due to lack of knowledge concerning the law.

"Our purpose now is to help the merchants," Mr. Thompson said. "During the month we will assist them in becoming acquainted with the law, making out their tax forms and so forth. We do not plan to do any auditing at this time. Our sole function is to aid store owners instead of making them feel that someone is checking up on them."

Territories have been assigned to the upper peninsula inspectors as follows: W. A. Thompson, Delta and Menominee; John A. Mahon, Iron, Gogebic and Baraga; Robert B. Dory, Alger, Lapeere, Mackinac, Chippewa and Schoolcraft; O. A. Malila, Ontonagon, Houghton and Keweenaw; Lee Stafford, Marquette and Dickinson.

LE MARS, IOWA, SMILING AGAIN

Corn Crop Helps Town to Snap Out of Depression

By TOM HAWKINS
Le Mars, Iowa (AP)—The north-west Iowa farmer, four months ago in bitter revolt against hardships of reduced income and fixed debt charges, has placed his hope of economic recovery on a bumper corn crop this fall.

And the yield promises to be the best in 10 years.

The spirit of rebellion that flared up in this town and other communities and was given nationwide prominence because of farmers' battles with sheriff's deputies at mortgage foreclosure sales and the threatened hanging of an attorney and a judge has given way to a quietly-voiced optimism.

Looking at his corn, many a Le Mars farmer is hopeful that the lean days are past.

Federal Benefits Ahead
Farmers are waiting for promised benefits of a $108,000,000 mortgage refinancing project in Iowa, cash payments for wheat acreage reduction and the possibility of similar benefits for curtailed hog and corn production next year.

Northwest Iowa's estimated corn yield this fall is 65,000,000 bushels, says Leslie M. Carl, federal agricultural statistician. This estimate, totaling 16 per cent of the state's yield, is about 7,000,000 bushels above the 10-year average.

Loans Obtained
Within the last month, 75 farmers of Plymouth county, focal point of recent farm outbreaks, have obtained federal land bank loans—through the regular channels, apart from the new $108,000,000 program.

There was a wave of exuberance here when hogs pushed over the $5 mark and corn joined the climb in May.

Some farmers realized on corn at 50 cents a bushel—corn they had refused to sell last fall at 10 and 20 cents. Merchants noticed an upturn in sales.

WELCOME HIBERNIANS

HIBERNIANS of Michigan and members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of that order will assemble in Escanaba today for the biennial convention of their order in this state. The convention will bring the order and state officers and delegates representing all of the Hibernian and auxiliary lodges of Michigan to the peninsula.

The people of Escanaba are most happy to extend a hearty greeting and a sincere welcome to the group of visitors, who are to be the city's guests through the three days of their convention. No effort has been spared by officers of the local lodges to make the arduous sessions of the convention both enjoyable and interesting to the people of Escanaba in general are cooperating to make the visit of their guests a most pleasant one.

The foundation stones upon which the Ancient Order of Hibernians and Ladies' Auxiliary to that order are founded, are both patriotic and idealistic. Through its order an intense love of the country of adoption by their fathers and their forefathers, is inculcated in its membership and is supplemented by an equal fervent endeavor to keep alive the hearts of all of Irish descent, an undying respect for the history and the heroes of their otherland. The history of the united States is studded with evidences of the loyalty and the patriotism of the Irish people and in manner in which the people of this race have, at the same time, maintained their love and their loyalty for their mother country, has constituted an accomplishment equaled by the people of no other race.

Escanaba is proud, indeed, to welcome the members of an order which has played such an important part in the accomplishment of such a proud record.

MISSOURI IS TWENTY-SECOND

MISSOURI on Saturday became the twenty-second state of the Union to record its vote for repeal of the national prohibition amendment. Wet forces in that state rolled up a majority of more than three to one for repeal, saving not the slightest doubt as to the sentiment of the people of the "Show Me" state, on this long troublesome and highly important question.

The people of Texas will be the next to record their sentiment for or against repeal when they go to the polls next Saturday to cast their ballots. Texas last took a vote on the wet and dry question back in 1919 when state prohibition was voted by a majority of slightly less than 20,000. But such water has flowed through the dam since that time and real leaders of Texas are freely predicting that the Lone Star state will become the twenty-third in the nation to join the rapidly growing group of commonwealths, demanding the abandonment of one of the sorriest experiments in the history of government.

"BIG FELLOWS" COMING IN

A GROWING feeling that the national government was using its power to force small business into compliance with the NRA codes, while the "big fellows" were permitted to evade compliance, has been definitely alleviated by the announcement on Sunday that steel, oil and lumber codes had been approved by the administration. This announcement was followed by the revelation that the same pressure brought to bear to bring about an agreement on a working code for the oil industry, will be immediately applied to the coal and automobile industries and indications are now given that their codes will be either voluntarily written or forced upon them before the close of this week.

Right or wrong this nation is now engaged in the most stupendous economic experiment in all history and both big and little industries must make an honest effort at cooperation before any measure of success can be possible.

STATE CAN HELP

AUDITOR General John K. Stack, in conference with Detroit officials at Lansing last week, suggested that the state of Michigan might be of most material aid to the state's metropolis in its bond refunding program, by cutting the cost of such a program by at least a million and a half dollars. The Lansing State Journal, in discussing Auditor General Stack's suggestion, offers the thought that in as much as practically every unit of government in the state is facing the necessity of refunding bonds, the state might offer the same measure of help to all communities that is suggested for the city of Detroit. The State Journal says:

Renewing the note and refunding are practically the same thing, but most folks who know all about renewing notes do not go in for extensive use of the word refunding.

Whatever the process may be termed, these are days when pretty much everyone is interested in extension of time on matters of payment. An individual citizen may be "out from under" himself, but, however that may be, he likely is of some municipal corporation or other, the bonds of which are due or coming due. So there are few who are not interested in refunding in one way or another.

Auditor General Stack was in Detroit the other day counseling with that city on the refunding of $300,000,000 of indebtedness. He pointed out that the state may be of service in that connection if Detroit will have it so. It came out in the discussion that it will cost Detroit $2,500,000 to refund its $300,000,000 indebtedness if it goes about it in the usual way. Auditor General Stack pointed out that it could be done for less than half that sum. He said the state public debt commission would not approve of refunding at $2,500,000 but it would sanction the process at around $1,000,000.

The conversation of the auditor general with the Detroit authorities suggests something more than a relationship between those parties. The thought naturally arises whether it may not be possible for the very great deal of refunding that must be done all over this state, by towns, villages, school districts, cities and counties, road and drain districts, to arrange for their refunding through the state instead of going as individual borrowers into the open market.

If all the municipalities of Michigan which must now or somewhat later begin a process of refunding will get together behind the leadership of the auditor general and the state treasury and so present a united front, it cannot be otherwise than that a much better bargain can be struck than by villages here and school districts there going, hat in hand and suppliant, to the money lenders.

The position taken by Auditor General Stack, at Detroit, seemed to indicate that the state is prepared to show the way in aiding the vast number of government units in their financial operations. If something of the kind is done a vast saving is likely to arise. Money saved is to the point.

NO ROWDYISM NEEDED

THERE is something extremely ominous about that little story from St. Louis, telling how a mob seized a small-scale restaurant owner who had failed to sign the NRA agreement, beat him up and forced him to kiss the blue eagle emblem. Nor is the story made any more refreshing by the victim's assertion that the attack was inspired by his business competitors who wanted to force him to raise his prices for meals.

Only an alert and aggressive public opinion can make a success of the NRA campaign. That goes without saying. But a public opinion that boils over into acts of rowdism like this is worse than useless. There are other ways of reaching slackers. If our support of the campaign degenerates into lawless mob spirit, the blue eagle will be a curse and not a blessing.

Let us hope devoutly that this

LOVE OF EVE

(By NEA Service)

BY LUCY WALLING

CHAPTER XIII

Tamkinnville boasted two hotels but one of them was only open during the tourist season so Dick took Eve to the other, the Hotel Cortley. She glanced about the lobby while he signed the register. The walls were of tan plaster and two columns of speckled imitation red granite supported a dingy ceiling. There were two davenport and a few arm chairs upholstered in red mohair. A pair of elk's horns was mounted above the clerk's desk. There was a rubber plant and a row of backs. The backs belonged to men lined up inside the window who had seen Eve and Dick coming down Center street. This privilege of watching the comings and goings in Center street was granted to guests of the Hotel Cortley. Indeed, it was the sole diversion of many forced to stay over the week-end.

Eve and Dick were transported to the third floor by a rickety elevator in a lay iron cage. The row of backs turned as the elevator door clanked and a row of faces watched them disappear. Eve registered extreme hauteur. As the bellboy led the way to the far end of the corridor Eve noted with interest the number of pieces of carpeting in different colors and designs on that floor.

"Thrift here," she noted. "As an area wears out it is replaced instead of buying enough for the entire floor."

Later they walked up Center street and mingled with the crowd. Tamkinnville was the "market town" thereabouts and whole families as well as young couples drove in from the hills for Saturday shopping and the movies.

Eve selected a tiny white restaurant for their evening meal because of the fresh dotted, ruffled curtains hung in the window. Nothing on the menu appealed to them, however, and they waited a long time while the proprietor went to the butcher shop to purchase clams. He had assured them "it would be no trouble at all to serve the clams on the half shell, but when they finally were served, minus cracked ice, Eve and Dick found them lukewarm instead of cold and both felt they had learned a lesson.

"The Fair," Tamkinnville's leading store, offered Saturday specials in women's and men's apparel. Eve was surprised to note how up-to-date the stock was. She managed to have a chat with the dress buyer who was sent to New York each year and Eve was immediately impressed by the woman's alert manner and thorough knowledge of her field.

Afterward Eve and Dick dropped in at a motion picture theater. So busy had they been lately that a movie seemed to involve a luxurious expenditure of time. When the lights went up a young lad sitting next to Eve remarked to the girl beside him, "Right nice room they have here." But Dick, after an appraising glance about him, stated, "They wasted no money building this place." Later he and Eve mounted the stairs to look at the balcony and Dick rapped softly along the wall. "Cheap construction here all right," he whispered. "But all pleasing to the average eye—very pleasing. They have enough fire exists, anyway," he added.

Eve felt like a person somewhat detached from herself as they wandered back to the Cortley. Not a familiar face in sight, the townspeople, often turning their heads to look as she and Dick passed, the utter simplicity of the business life, the leisurely pace. A feeling began to steal over Eve that perhaps Hixby's was not as important to the world as she had imagined it to be.

"Dick," she said later as they lay awake in their hotel room, the lights out, shades up and rays from the Center street are light filtering through the Nottingham lace curtains, "Dick—I feel so peaceful."

"That's why I brought you here your little kitten. You were all tangled up in a ball of yarn."

The next morning Eve discovered the Copper Bell Antique Shoppe.

"Oh—what a cute set of corner shelves!" Eve exclaimed. "How I'd love to have it for our dining room."

Dick responded with his non-committal "H-m, a what-not?" Eve glanced up at him quickly. "You don't like it," she accused. "Why, Dick? What's wrong with it?" she persisted.

"Well," Dick explained reluctantly, "it's not really old—fifty years, perhaps. That wouldn't matter, though, if it were good of its kind, but it isn't. Late Victorian—too late. Cheap machine carving."

"For the present—if we could afford it—this water bench would be a more useful piece for us, Pennsylvania Dutch. The open shelves above would display plates and bric-a-brac as well or better than the what-not and the cupboard below would provide useful storage space."

"But it's so rightfully shabby," Eve objected.

"It could be painted any color you'd like," answered Dick simply.

"Well, it would be nice," agreed Eve. "Nicer than the what-not. But you wouldn't be so snuffy about that. Corner shelves are fashionable again."

Dick was unperturbed. "Some of these things are graceful and pretty," he conceded. "Aunt Sophronia had one with spool turnings. Probably has it stowed away in the attic. We'll see sometime when we're down east."

"And do look at this, Dick," Eve tugged at his arm and drew him to a corner of the shop to look at a chest of drawers. "Oh, Dick, we ought to have this. You can't say it's not old."

Dick surveyed the piece but without enthusiasm. "Knobs fastened on with wood screws. Put together with wood pins. About

LYRICS OF LIFE

WHAT A LIFE

Once one could toil and earn, and save,
And build a home, and little crave,
But find his joys

In sturdy boys
And modest girls, a gentle wife—
Then some one whispered, "What a life!"

And so we said, "Why toil so much?
There must be other ways to clutch
This thing called gold.

What fools the old
To be with simple things content.
They never knew what pleasure meant!"

And then we rearranged the earth
And made new things the things of worth.
All things were right

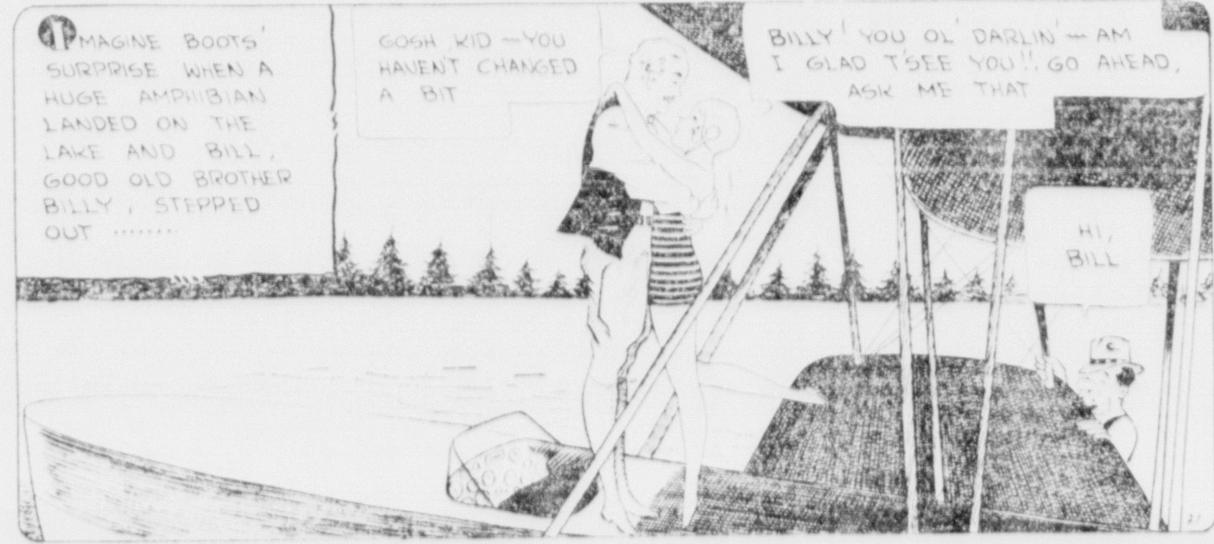

That gave delight
And nothing ever really wrong.
And so we lived—but not for long.

But now how different they seem,
Those days that now are but a dream:
A father's care,
A mother's prayer,
A little house removed from strife,
With peace, and plenty, What a life!

WILL RELEASE SCHOOL FUNDS

15 Per Cent of Turner Money To Be Distributed Soon

At a recent meeting with the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Paul F. Voelker, the Finance Committee of the State Administrative Board voted to release over one-half million dollars of the moneys due to local districts by the state. The Finance Committee, consisting of Theodore Fiv, State Treasurer, John K. Stack, State Auditor, B. J. Abbott, Budget Director, and Frank Fitzgerald, Secretary of State, expressed their sympathy with the financial plight of the school districts and gave assurance that additional releases on last year's account would be made as soon as possible. Fifteen per cent of the $1,400,000 due to local districts on the Turner Fund will be paid at once. Fifteen per cent of the remainder will be paid in September. Similarly, fifteen per cent of the $367,000 due for special class instruction will be paid now with another fifteen per cent payable in October.

For Agricultural Schools
Fifty per cent of the $292,000 due the rural agricultural schools was to be released August 20. It is estimated that this payment will enable the 95 rural agricultural schools with some 16,000 pupils to open at the regular time in September.

All of the balance due on the poor district account, $35,000, will be paid.

For County Normals
It was also voted to pay the county normal indebtedness for last year first to those districts that this year have discontinued their county normals because of financial difficulties and thus close the account. Fifteen county normal boards have discontinued their training schools so that some $45,000 will be payable on this account.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

An unusually large number of auto accidents are reported these days in Michigan. Last Friday afternoon I witnessed a most "beautiful" collision at the junction of 35 and 41 near Terrace Gardens. If it had been pulled off at a State Fair it would have won a first prize. The two cars came together like two stallions going into battle. The smaller car reared high as if to bite the big car but was rolled over twice landing in the ditch entirely hors de combat. The big car fared a little better. I was driving north on 41 at 40 miles an hour. Two hundred paces from the junction a car passed me at great speed, fully 60 miles an hour. "At the time it passed me a car was making the turn from 35 to go south on 41. The car that passed me kept in the west lane and at his great speed. He evidently expected, as I did, that the entering car would stop and let him pass and the entering car expected he would halt and let him get on the west lane. Each misjudged the other. The result was the collision.

The lesson I learned from this accident is that we are driving too fast. Slow drivers are put in jeopardy by the fast drivers. Had the north bound car been driving at 40 miles the accident would not have happened for he could have stopped when he saw the collision was imminent.

But let's be sensible, why this great speed? In these hard times can't we do all our business at a 35 mile speed? We used to do it on much less. But it seems the average driver, especially the young, going from Escanaba to Gladstone wants to make it in ten minutes instead of fifteen. At this great speed he burns about twice the gas and oil. He saves five minutes in time driving and when he gets to Gladstone he does not know what to do with his time. Would it not be more sensible to put in five more minutes on the road at a lower and safer speed? Suppose we all try it out. If we do we shall reduce the auto accidents.

GARDEN NEWS

HEN WITHOUT TAIL

Garden, Mich., Aug. 19.—A White hen on the William McNally farm here is without a tail. She has passed through one moulting period and not the slightest sign of a tail appeared with the new feathers. Her owner states that she was tailless when her first chick feathers appeared. A few days ago, she surprised her owners by deliberately stepping into the Garden Creek which runs through the farm, swimming across the twelve or fifteen feet to the other side, and then occupying herself chasing grasshoppers. When satisfied, she returned in the same manner.

Joseph Lewis, local farmer reports that one of his cows recently returned from pasture with only the stump of its tail left 3 or 4 inches long. Conjecture as to a possible explanation was subsequently verified when the other part of the tail was found wrapped tightly around a small tree. The animal had been switching her tail when standing near the tree and it had wrapped around in such a manner as to hold her until she had literally torn herself loose. Readers may doubt this story but the cow may still be seen on the Lewis farm at Putty Creek. It is a coincidence, but on the Finley McCashum farm, adjoining is a cow which had similar trouble about the same time but she did not leave quite so

COOPERATION HELPED TOWN

Lower Michigan Community Won Battle Over Depression

By G. MILTON KELLY
Rockford, Mich. (AP)—Rockford people learned how to "think cooperative" and in the great depression they found this ability an asset.

Since 1920, when G. A. Krause placed the little village's one big industry on a stock-sharing basis the idea has spread until today it includes cooperative purchases of homes, insurance, amusement and some forms of medical service.

When hard times came, the residents just followed the idea. Cooperative gardens furnished vegetables for unemployed and those whose earnings were reduced, the employed saw to it by subscription among themselves that there was plenty of money to help the township support the jobless—the welfare relief roll at no time numbered more than 12 families, those who could afford it gave odd jobs that helped their less fortunate neighbors.

Profits Are Shared
Krause started it after the world war. He thought it would be splendid if his employees had something to work for beyond their wage or salary. So all profit of the company over 10 per cent on the common stock and 7 per cent on the preferred was placed in a common fund to be divided equally at the end of the year between employees and stockholders.

Employees got their share in common or preferred stock according to seniority and wage. Since 1920 the company has paid out about $200,000 in stock to workers, men and women. The industry, a leather tannery and shoe and glove factory, employs 600 persons and pays them from $600,000 to $900,000 a year in wages.

Later, with the help of his two sons, Otto and Victor, Krause started a cooperative insurance plan.

Homes Built Cooperatively
Further a home builders' cooperation was organized to work on a cooperative basis. In the village of 350 residential buildings and 1,600 population, 88 homes for employees have been built under this plan, the workers paying for them by assigning portions of their monthly pay.

Auto Hits Train
Iron Mountain—Francis Bergen and Edward Kolk, each 24 years of age and both of Chicago, were seriously injured at 10 o'clock last evening when their car rammed into a Chicago and North Western ore train at the crossing on the road leading to Hamilton lakes.

The car was driven by Kolk. In going down an incline just before reaching the crossing the lights of the machine, it was stated, were at such an angle that they did not bring the train into outline. The car struck with considerable force.

Those New Ideas In Economics

Inventions Aiding Employment, Competitive New Industries, Benefits and Drawbacks

By J. R. BRACKETT
(Associated Press Business Writer)

New York (AP)—One of the underlying hopes of business men and economists is that new industries will absorb part of the burden of giving work to the unemployed.

Air conditioning and cheap small housing generally are regarded as the most immediately effective channels of new business. Engineers disagree on the feasibility of developing a mass demand for air conditioning equipment before several years, while those hoping to market steel or other factory-made houses as much as automobiles now are sold anticipate no real demand for many months.

Accepted Sooner
Economists often have pointed out that predictions concerning new industries seldom are reached until many years after new products are introduced, although the speed with which a product is accepted today is much greater than a few years ago.

It took the automobile industry more than 20 years to reach maximum production. The radio industry, on the other hand, was near the maximum in five or six years.

The development of television and aviation also is expected to play an important part in the nation's industrial progress. Aviation men are most enthusiastic about the possibilities of transport expansion, pointing to gains made during the depression.

Not Always More Jobs

A new industry may not always be particularly helpful from a re-employment standpoint since very often it is competitive with some other industry. Television might be regarded as completely new, but it conceivably could reduce the business opportunities of the movies and the theatre. Generally, however, new industries probably create more employment in the long run than they cut off. One harmful effect of a new industry is the dislocation of workers in other competitive industries, who, though they may be ultimately reabsorbed in the economic system, are for a time without work and whose specialized abilities are out-dated.

Substitute For 7-8 Exams Is Planned

Committees consisting of members of the department, school administrators and teachers are now at work devising a definite plan of procedure for the administration of a substitute measure for the seventh and eighth grade examinations in the rural schools. It is expected that a specific outline of procedure will be announced in the second issue of the Michigan Education Journal.

● FRANCES MARSALIS and LOUISE THADEN set the world's endurance flight record for women when they brought their plane down at Curtiss Field, Long Island, after flying more than 196 hours without a stop through fog, rain, blinding sun, and pitch-black night.

● IN ADDITION to their astounding endurance flight, Miss Marsalis (Left) and Miss Thaden hold many other flying records. Miss Marsalis is the women's champion stunt flyer of the world. It takes healthy nerves to fly...doubly so to fly like these two young women. It is significant that both are enthusiastic Camel smokers.

STEADY SMOKERS TURN TO CAMELS

MISS THADEN says: "Flying is a terrific strain at times. I frankly don't know what I should do without cigarettes. But I've found that different cigarettes have different effects on my nerves. For some years I've smoked Camels. They taste better. They're much milder. And I've noticed that they never upset my nerves."

MISS MARSALIS says: "I started smoking Camels because most of my friends who were flyers seemed to prefer them. I've never changed because I can't afford to take chances with my nervous system."

Camel's costlier tobaccos do make a difference...in taste, in mildness. They never jangle the nerves. Your taste and your nerves will confirm this. Turn to Camels.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. You will find Camels rich in flavor and delightfully mild.

● WHAT A THRILL! And how a good smoke adds to its enjoyment! Light up a cigarette. And for the sake of your nerves, make it a Camel...the milder cigarette that's made from costlier tobaccos.

Today's Recipe

A Nine Day sweet pickle recipe has been received answering a recent request through the kindness of a Daily Press reader.

Nine Day Sweet Pickles
1 bushel three-inch cucumbers
5 pounds common salt
2 gallons white vinegar
4 tablespoons powdered alum
3 ounces whole allspice
White sugar and a few grape leaves

First Day—Place washed pickles in crock. Add 2½ pounds salt. Cover with water.

Second Day—Drain off water, pour on fresh. Add remaining 1½ pounds salt.

Fourth to Sixth Day—Every day drain water and add fresh.

Seventh Day—Drain off water. Prick blossom end of pickles. Into kettle put alum, grape leaves and vinegar solution made with one part vinegar to three parts water. Cover pickles with this solution and simmer 1½ hours. Return pickles and liquid into jar and let stand over night.

Eighth Day—Drain off liquid and weigh pickles. To every 7 pounds of pickles allow three pounds of sugar, allspice and remaining vinegar. Boil in kettle five minutes. Pour boiling liquid over pickles and let stand over night.

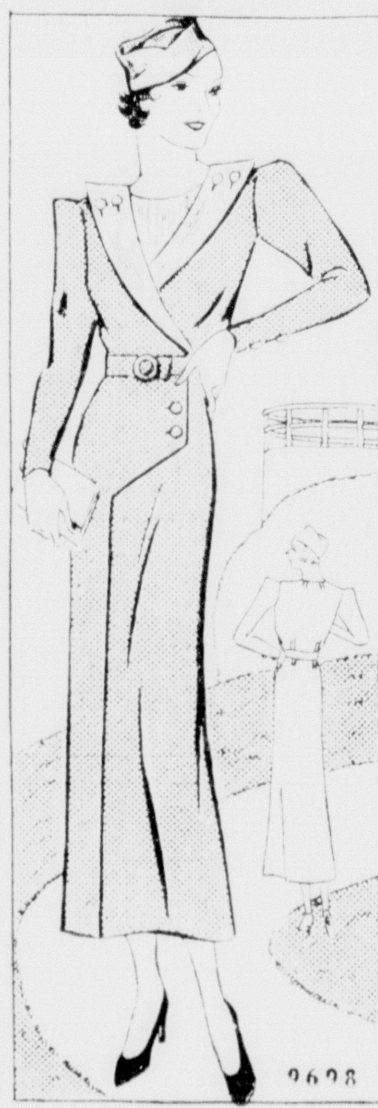

Ninth Day—Drain off spiced vinegar. Bring to boil. Pour back over pickles. Let stand until cold. Pack cold in sterilized jars.

This recipe makes a five-gallon jar full of pickles which do not need to be sealed.

Mrs. Johnson's a
Battler, Too—On
Consumer's Side

Washington (AP)—Each morning they walk into the NRA corridors together, General Hugh S. Johnson, commander of the recovery drive, and his small, sunnily-smiling wife, one of the volunteer workers.

No high-sounding title would Mrs. Johnson take when she consented to become a member of the consumers' advisory board, dealing with complaints that come to its protective bureau.

To those who wanted to call her "chairman" of the protective phase, she made courteous, but firm refusal.

"Just give me a desk, and put me to work," she said.

The Buyer's Friend

That's how the "ultimate consumer" got an understanding friend-at-court.

For Mrs. Johnson is not only willing but able to take up the cudgels in behalf of the person who buys the goods, has to pay the bills and who somehow feels an undeniable right to be sure he is getting his money's worth.

A majority of the consumers' complaints coming into the consumers' protective bureau deal with rises in prices.

Protecting the Consumer

If these price rises are unjustified, the National Recovery administration, which has appealed to the people to begin buying again as a patriotic duty and recovery aid, proposes to give protection.

This dove-tails right into one of Mrs. Johnson's hobbies. For years she has been interested in the sort of research that becomes a guide-book to intelligent buying.

A time-honored example would be grandma moistening a finger to test the linen-quality of the tablecloth.

More modern would be the instance of putting electric egg-beaters or toasters to a test to determine their relative life-spans and safety factors.

The bureau of standards, scientific schools, and laboratories of various sorts team with these tests. Mrs. Johnson believes they could be utilized to protect the consumer.

"I have been surprised that many women have thought this campaign was solely to promote buying," said Mrs. Johnson. "It is also for the protection of the

The "In-Between" Frock

What to wear during the in-between season often presents a problem. Summer clothes look out of place about the first of September but it is too warm to start wearing a fall suit. Remember that a tailored, black crepe suit or dress with white lingerie touches at throat and wrists, solves the difficulty.

Paris (AP)—A red muslin poppy, placed in the center of the waistline at the back makes a striking ornamentation for a white evening gown worn by one style leader this summer. The frock, which is of white waxed organdie, is designed with a flounced skirt and short flared sleeves. Its only touch of color being the poppy at the girder.

Heavy white crepe—the skirt plain and the blouse and sleeves heavily beaded with dull metallic mirrors and silver bugle beads—makes this startling formal evening outfit which Joan Crawford wears.

In keeping with the glitter of the sash and blouse, Miss Crawford wears a brilliant jeweled ornament in her hair.

MAPLE FLOORING CONCERNS MEET

Trade Relations Are Discussed at Menominee Conference

Rising prices of rough hardwood lumber and an accompanying, but much slower, rise in prices of flooring were reported at the annual summer meeting of the Maple Flooring Manufacturers association in Menominee last week.

Prices of rough lumber were reported to have advanced as much as 100 per cent in recent months, while prices of flooring have increased approximately 30 per cent.

Sales of hardwood flooring, reported "pretty good" in June, slumped in July and August to date. Building activity, which ordinarily parallels flooring sales has been low and buying has been largely speculative.

Among the manufacturers and firms represented were:

F. R. Welsh and Emil Gilling of Kerry & Hanson Flooring company, Grayling, Mich.; H. L. Engle, of Cummer & Higgins Flooring company, Cadillac, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wrasper of Kneeland & Bigelow, Bay City, Mich.; Ray Price of the Brown Dimenson company, Manistique; A. L. Bradshaw of Reed City, Mich.; representing the E. L. Bruce company of Memphis, Tenn.; M. L. Thomas of Bobbs & Mitchell, Cadillac; W. A. Holt and W. L. De Witt of the Holt Hardwood company, Oconto; J. D. Staples of the Northwestern Coopersage & Lumber company, Gladstone; Paul E. Abendroth and Miss Abendroth of the Robbins Flooring company, Rhinelander, Wis.; C. A. Goodman of the Sawyer Goodman company, Marinette; H. H. Shepeck of the L. Stephenson company, Wells, Mich.; A. Washington President Green of the A. F. of L. didn't like being high-batted by the steel barons who refused to let him in at Secretary Perkins conference.

But an experience the same day at the Labor Advisory Board's meeting pained him still worse.

At one point he even threatened to resign from the board.

The board has been secretly fighting out a bitter row between A. F. of L.'s United Garment Workers and Board Member Sidney Hillman's larger, more powerful Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Amalgamated engaged in a whirlwind organizing campaign, has called several strikes. U. G. W. has been willing to break those strikes for its own benefit, through agreements with employers. Amalgamated men call it a "scab labor agency."

Hillman excoriated Green, producing a letter which Hillman said put the A. F. of L. chief in the position of handing factory owners propaganda against Amalgamated.

The board, willing enough to disapprove the steel men's treatment of Green, exhibited a majority sentiment against his clothing strike attitude.

Green's threat to quit subsided after John Lewis of the mine workers had mollified him.

New Inflation Sentiment

A renewed wave of inflation sentiment seems to be gathering force. Senators and congressmen are hearing about it from home and they, in turn, are becoming more articulate.

Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, has been trying to convince Roosevelt that prompt inflation is vitally essential. He says declines in cotton prices have depressed many southern farmers.

It action is not forthcoming, Smith will try to arrange a meeting of Senate and House committee members to discuss the issue.

Junket Postponed

That little junket to the Philippines, promoted by Senator Tydings of Maryland as chairman of the Territories and Insular Affairs committee, has been indefinitely postponed.

Tydings wrote half a dozen members, asking them to come along. But they must keep the trip a secret. They didn't want to take too much money out of the Senate contingent fund, he explained, and there were some members of the committee they

Washington Closeup

By Kirke Simpson

Washington. All-but-simultaneous changes in the Roosevelt professorial corps of "new deal" assistants conceivably could mark a definite mile post in the President's program.

His heretofore chief lieutenant of the brain trust group, Professor Ray Moley, was detoured for various reasons into a highly specialized sideline, the anti-trust drive. Before folks had talked that out completely, Professor William F. Ogburn resigned from the consumers' advisory board of NRA due to a difference of view as to procedure.

There remain still on the "new deal" job plenty of professors, some scarce or so in fact, all sociologists or economists. Yet the implications of the Moley and Ogburn incidents seemed to be that this time of theorizing and scientifically guided planning so far as the main "new deal" objective of getting some 12,000,000 out-of-work persons back on paying jobs had passed; that the non-professional, hard-driving, practical executives like General Hugh Johnson had become the chief troops of the administration drive.

Looking Far Ahead

Professor Ogburn's statement of his reasons for retirement, made to General Johnson, is open to that construction. It suggests that he was looking at the evolution of this regime of the blue eagle with a longer distance point of view than some of his NRA colleagues.

His complaint that not sufficient machinery to build up statistical yardsticks to check effects of NRA "cartels" against price rises seemed to look far ahead to a condition where industry was permanently regimented, not temporarily harnessed.

Results Wanted

General Johnson insistently has driven at this get-them-back-to-work objective of the recovery act. He made much of the day when the NRA codes could be described as spreading over some 10,000,000 wage earners. Yet he could not give an authoritative estimate then as to what amount of re-employment had been accomplished.

In his eyes and perhaps in those of President Roosevelt himself, that is the most important test of the recovery act. If re-employment does not come and come quickly, the question of protecting consumer interests might be purely academic. The major Washington concern of the moment is a short, not a long view of the situation. Results before winter is the slogan.

That success of the government-partnership-in-business idea of the recovery act will result in a movement to build up a permanent system is a foregone conclusion. What system is proposed depends upon what happens in the next three or four months.

It is notable that the President was still uncertain enough on the first half of his vacationing at Hyde Park to safe-pedal inflation talk incidental to his conversations with his chief advisers.

Sudan Grass Causes Death Of Livestock

Dangers in feeding Sudan grass to cattle were pointed out yesterday by Joseph E. Turner, county agricultural agent, who called attention to the fact that several cows have died in Menominee county of late from this cause.

Cows being pastured on Sudan grass should also be fed a grain ration, Mr. Turner said. If this grass is cut for hay, the cutting should be done before it freezes.

Prussic acid, which is contained in Sudan grass, causes the livestock deaths.

Cabinet Begins Coin History Of Portugal
Lisbon (AP)—The government wants to show the complete history of Portugal in coins.

A recent decree established a national coin museum, and an appeal was made to private collectors to contribute specimens to the 10,000 coins already housed in the museum.

The collection includes a complete set of the gold coins of D. Joao V (1706-1759) and other early kings of Portugal. The most valuable specimens, however, are among those recently acquired from a well-known Dutch collector and include the only known examples of a 500 reals gold piece of D. Antonio dated 1580 and a gold "arizado" of the reign of Philip II (1527-1598).

Hibernian Order Was Organized in America To Assist Immigrants

The origin of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America may be traced back to the formation of benevolent societies to assist Irish immigrants in the eighteenth century.

When the Irish emigration flowed towards the American colonies in the eighteenth century, the social instinct early found expression in societies. One of the earliest of these was founded in Boston, where, in 1737, 26 "gentlemen, merchants and others, natives of Ireland or of Irish extraction, organized the Caribbea Irish society. In Pennsylvania, where the Irish emigration had been larger than in any other colony, the Hibernian Fire company was organized in 1771.

Aided Immigrants
The Hibernian Society for the Relief of Immigrants from Ireland was organized in Philadelphia on March 3, 1790. Other Hibernian societies, with the same title and organized for the same purpose, were founded in other cities along the Atlantic coast in the early years of the nineteenth century, but the Philadelphia Hibernian Society was, from the character of its existence, the most famous.

The emigrants from Ireland during the eighteenth century had pushed on to the frontier, or, in some instances, remained in the cities and engaged successfully in mercantile pursuits. The emigration which came after the revolution was, however, in great part composed of families without means. Unable to subsist while clearing farms in the virgin forest, thousands were contented in the cities. The Hibernian Society extended a ready hand to these helpless people, and not only aided the emigrants with gifts of money, but also secured for them employment, disseminated among them useful information, and provided them with medical attendance.

While the Hibernian Society was regarded as the successor of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, yet the two societies, which contained largely a membership hearing the same names, flourished in the work of patriotism side by side.

First Hibernian Officers
The first officers of the Hibernian Society for the Relief of Immigrants from Ireland were: President, Chief Justice Thomas McKean; vice president, General Walter Stewart; secretary, Matthew Carey; treasurer, John Taylor. It was said that no other society in America contained so many men distinguished in civil, military and official life as the Hibernian Society.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians more remotely traces its origin to those orders which flourished in pagan Ireland, and which exercised so potent an influence upon the history of the Celtic race. The order of knighthood was the first of these orders to be founded. It existed from the earliest times, and is visible in the annals of the nation, until the Anglo-Normans invaded the land in the twelfth century. In pagan Ireland the knightly orders became provincial standing armies, and there are many glorious pages describing the feats of the Clanna Deagha of Munster, the Clanna Morna of Connacht, the Feni of Leinster, and the Knights of the Red Branch of Ulster. When the island was Christianized, these knightly orders were among the staunchest supporters of the missionary priests, and were consecrated to the service of the church in the sixth century, assuming the cross as their distinctive emblem, and becoming the defenders of religion.

Some Ancient Knights
Among the names which are upon the rolls of the ancient order of knighthood are those of most of the kings, bards, saints, and statesmen, and in the long list there was no family of greater renown than that of Roderick the Great, to which belonged Connall Cearnach and Lugaidh, who, according to MacGeoghegan and others, were the direct ancestors of the O'Mores of Leix. In this family the ancient splendor of the knightly orders was a tradition which survived for centuries, and they were in almost continual rebellion against the English from the siege of Dublin by Roderick O'Connor until the rebellion against Queen Elizabeth, led by Rory Oge O'More and his son Owen in the latter part of the sixteenth and the early seventeenth century. A nephew of Rory Oge, the sagacious and statesmanlike Rory O'More, revived the ancient orders in the Catholic Confederation of Kilkenny in 1642. A grandson of Rory O'More, Patrick Sarsfield, Earl of Lucan, was the most distinguished commander of the Irish armies, who opposed in Ireland the forces of William of Orange.

There is no stranger story in all history than the intimate connection of the O'More family with the annals of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The lineage of this family furnishes the links connecting the ancient orders of pagan Ireland through the centuries with the Ancient Order in modern times. Under the names of Rapparees, Whiteboys, Defenders, Ribbonmen and so forth, the Confederation of Kilkenny was carried on through the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries until the nineteenth. At various times the duties of these organizations were subject to local conditions. Thus the Defenders were occupied in protecting themselves and their priests against the hostility of the Penal Laws, engaging in armed conflict with the Orangemen in the north, while the Whiteboys were waging war against the atrocities of landlordism in the south. Between these two organizations there was a secret code which operated until they were combined under the name of Ribbonmen in the early nineteenth century.

The contentions of the Whiteboys regarding Irish landlordism have since been acknowledged to be just and have been enacted into statutes. The Defenders joined with Wolfe Tone in the formation of the United Irishmen.

About 1825 the Ribbonmen changed their name to St. Patrick's Fraternal Society, and branches were established in England and Scotland under the name of the Hibernian Fraternal Society. In 1828 a charter was received by members in New York City and in Schuylkill county, Pennsylvania. The headquarters were for some years in Pennsylvania, but in 1851 a charter was granted to the New York divisions under the name of Ancient Order of Hibernians. New York thus became the American headquarters.

Indiana Boys Find "Sheds" Different

Santa Barbara, Cal. (AP)—Some Indiana boys in the reforestation camp of San Marcos, near here, are curious and eager to learn. Having heard a lot about a watershed, they asked California boys in a nearby camp where they could find it.

Then they hiked over the mountain to see it. They returned footsore, weary and disgusted. There wasn't, they reported, any shed anywhere. Someone explained that a watershed and a woodshed are altogether different.

NEW BEDFORD IS LOOKING UP

NRA Code in Textile Industry Aids Massachusetts City

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
New Bedford, Mass. (AP)—New Bedford's people, successors of the sturdy whalers, know where they are going under the NRA.

Not because they foresee better than the rest of the country where the NRA ultimately will go, but because for years they have been thinking and planning on their own in almost the exact terms of the "new deal" codes.

Consequently August 1 found them "set." And with that date the "consumption" of goods jumped in a most significant fashion.

But the first big thing NRA did to New Bedford shows in the faces of many of its people. Let's stand on a Saturday night in August on a downtown street corner with "Bill" Batty and see this new street scene through his eyes.

Faces Tell Story
He is William E. G. Batty, labor leader, secretary of the New Bedford Textile Council. For many months he has been going downtown Saturday nights, which are shopping periods for New Bedford workers. There, while his wife shopped, Batty has studied faces.

"The transformation is marvelous," he says. "The expressions I see have changed to hopeful and optimistic, after long months of looks of melancholy, bordering on despair."

On this same street meet Frank J. Leary, manager of the industrial development division of the New Bedford Board of Commerce. "It's the starburst for them," is Leary's terse description.

More Money In Pockets
These Saturday shoppers possessed about $60,000. Increased wages, a one-third payroll rise resulting from the textile code. A check-up shows that beginning July 29 the number of Saturday night shoppers doubled.

"Not only did the numbers double, but our sales were twice as large as for Saturday nights a year ago," says a manager of a large department store.

"And what do you think they were buying? Not wearing apparel but goods for the home, starting right at the bottom—the things that have been wearing out for years."

New Bedford's business is 80 per cent textiles. With Fall River it heads the fine textile manufacturing in this country.

"For years," says Leary, "we have been thinking, and we concluded long ago that the remedy was to spread employment and try to build up consumer buying power. Along with the New England council we wrote what was virtually the present code last winter. But New Bedford couldn't install a code alone."

"It had to be done nationally, and NRA did just that. We are going to get a living now."

"And," says Batty, "we have done one thing we might never have accomplished without the recovery act. We have negotiated a comprehensive wage schedule designed to wipe out the vicious differentials between wages of different classes of labor."

Batty says there are four fundamental classes—unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled. Also that President Roosevelt was asked to include the four in the codes but that this was too complicated.

AMUSEMENTS

Thrills below the surface, on the sea and in the air combine to create a sensational background for a stirring romance in "Hell Below," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's amazing drama of Uncle Sam's submarines, now being shown at the Delta theatre, with Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston, Madge Evans, Jimmy Durante, Eugene Pallette, and Robert Young as the principals in a madcap of adventure and excitement.

The picture, filmed with the cooperation of the United States Navy, depicts the most remarkable underwater shots of submarines in action yet seen on the screen. Against this authentic background is played the romance of a Montgomery, as the young lieutenant in love with Madge Evans, the daughter of his commander.

Their attempt to defy conventions and traditions only to find in the end that there is only one satisfactory solution to a conflict between love and duty provides the main thread of the narrative. The girl's loyalty to a husband crippled in an airplane fall, and Montgomery's final heroic gesture to redeem his wife's respect for the human incidents woven into a vivid heart-interest story.

State Lands Will Be Sold At Public Sale In Houghton

Houghton. Announcement has been received in the office of County Treasurer Victor A. Fredd, a state-owned land sale at public auction, August 30, 1933, at the county court house, Houghton, as required by Act 152, P. A. 1933, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, Eastern Standard Time.

In this case of sale the deed conveying said land will contain a clause reserving to the State of Michigan all mineral, coal, oil and gas rights, together with the right of ingress and egress over any of such lands lying along any water course or stream, as required by Section 8 of Act 289, Public Acts of 1909, as amended, and further reserving to the State of Michigan all aboriginal antiquities and the right to explore and excavate for same, pursuant to the provisions of Act 173, Public Acts of 1929, says the announcement of the sale as received here.

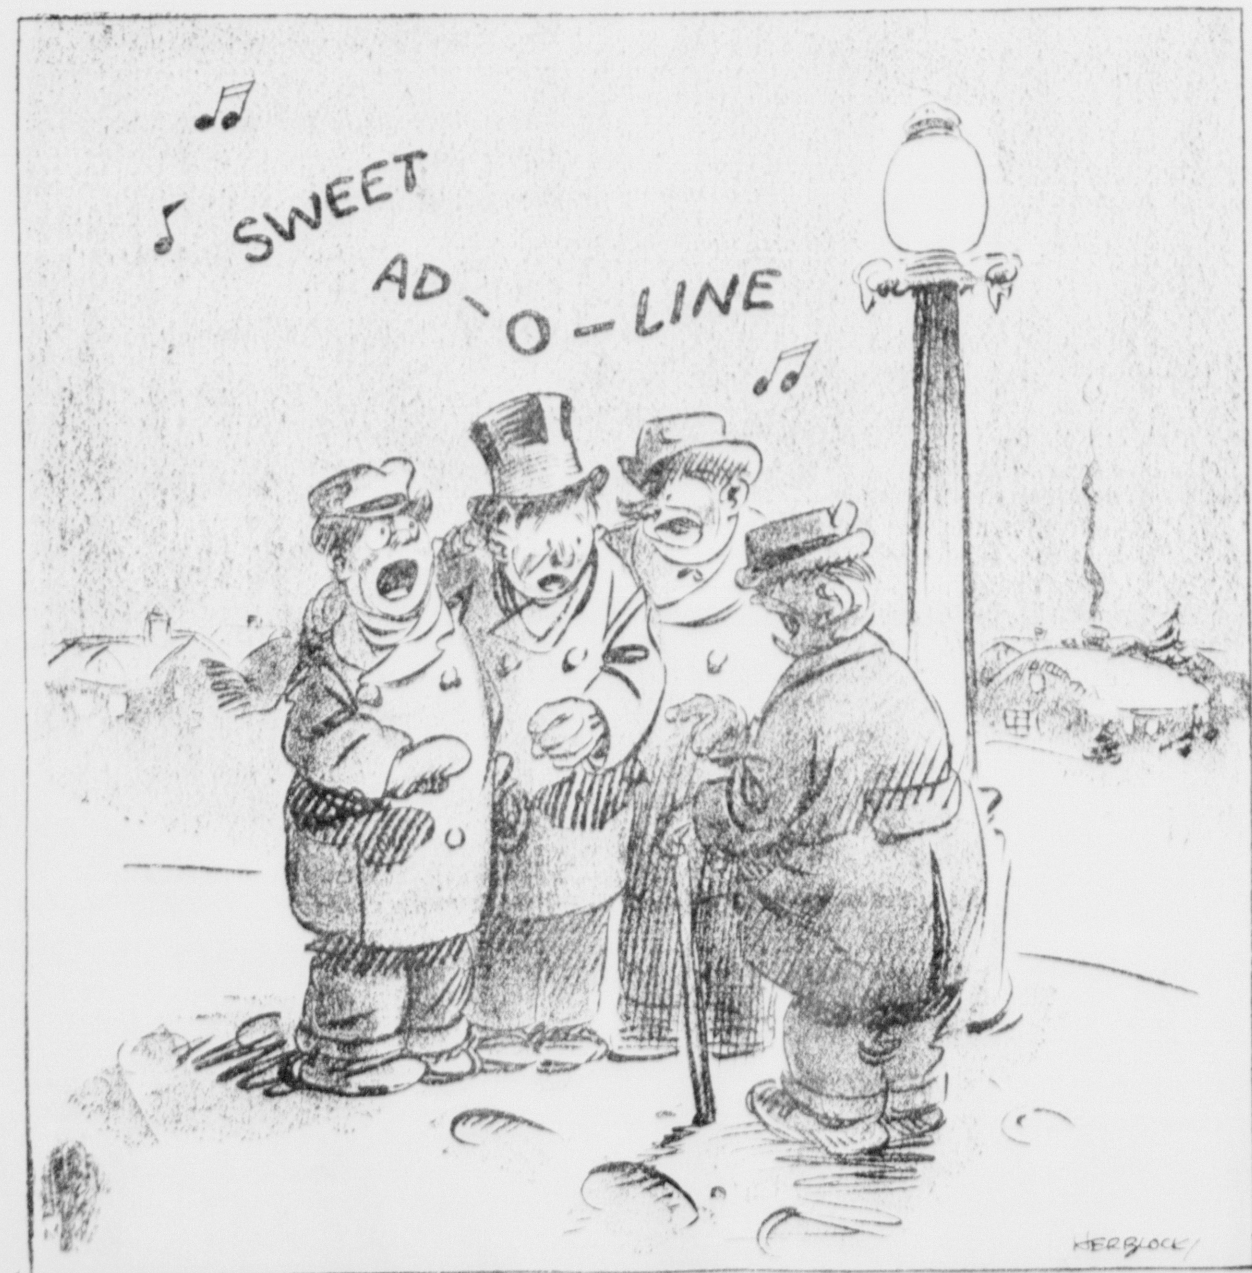

Jack Vizona of Munising, of the land department of the Department of Conservation, completed his work in the district over a month ago, that work consisting of appraising property that had already gone back to the conservation department for the non-payment of taxes. The property to be placed on sale here August 30 will be sold at a figure not less than that set upon said property by Mr. Vizona in his appraisal.

CHAS. GREEN ROTE SPEAKER

Gives Talk on Hobby; Att'y Jackson in Onto-Blaney Report

Hunting and fishing are the two sports to which Charles Green devotes most of his leisure time, it was disclosed in a short talk on hobbies by Mr. Green yesterday noon before the Gladstone Rotary club.

Preceding Mr. Green on the program, Atty. Glenn W. Jackson, chairman of the On-to-Blaney committee, gave a report on progress made in lining up the men who will represent the Gladstone club at the annual upper peninsula Rotary round-up to be held in Blaney next Saturday. Around from here are planning to attend.

Dr. A. H. Kimmond has lined up his soft ball team which will again attempt to lift the mythical Rotary soft ball title from the shoulders of the Manistique club. Charles Green is getting his golfers ready to strut their stuff and M. J. Makoon is grooming a few of the men in another golf game, that of the barnyard variety.

In telling of his hobby, Mr. Green stated that from the time he was a boy he has loved the woods and waters and the sports to which they lend themselves. He likes bird hunting and said that while at one time an adept at the sport, the lull of years through closed seasons had apparently taken with it some of his past skill. Deer hunting is also one of the speaker's weaknesses, as has been alluded to "shining" in Florida upon occasions, and several interesting experiences while engaged in these sports were related.

In fishing, the speaker stated that during the past few years he had been converted from a plug casting addict to a devotee of the fly. However, he said that he didn't agree with several fly casters of his acquaintance in that after some experience with both the wet and dry type of fly, he still preferred the former.

Sward and Duchenev hurled for the locals in both games. Swan did the receiving, Roberts and Campaign worked for Negaunee.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolpha Deloria, for many years residents of Gladstone, have taken over what is known as the Sharkey Farm, north of Brampton, on Highway 45. They have already taken over their new home.

In recent years the place was permitted to "run down," but the Delorias are repairing and beautifying the premises and the farm will soon be restored to its old attractiveness.

Sale of the property was negotiated through the A. T. Schiberg agency of this city.

MANY ATTEND PICNICS SUNDAY

W. O. W. Band, Com-

Sunday was a great day for outings as Manistique residents enjoyed the favorable weather in the celebration of three picnics. Approximately 500 persons attended the public picnic sponsored by the W. O. W. band at the Arrowhead Inn grounds, Indian Lake, while other outings under the sponsorship of the Lutheran Brotherhood of the Zion Lutheran church at the August Carlson farm, and the Escanaba Commandery at Hiawatha Shores were attended by large numbers of members of the respective organizations.

Youngsters enjoyed a fine sports program at the W. O. W. picnic and adults found plenty of amusement to make the day a success. Concerts were provided by the band, jittery dances were enjoyed, and plenty of food was served to the hungry. In a special-arranged diamond ball game, the Fords defeated the Nortons by a score of 9-4. Schuster hurled for the winners, while Larson and Eldon Norton divided the pitching assignment for the Nortons.

The Commandery picnic was attended by well over a hundred persons, the majority of whom were from Escanaba. A pot luck lunch was enjoyed and amusements consisted of horseshoe pitching and a baseball game between Escanaba and Manistique teams which ended in a tie.

Approximately 200 persons were in attendance at the Lutheran Brotherhood picnic at which a table lunch was served toward the latter part of the afternoon. In addition to games, picnickers enjoyed a fine program of talks and vocal selections. Addresses were given by Rev. P. O. Borsell, of Ottumwa, Iowa, and by Rev. A. S. Hamilton, of Cambridge, Ill.

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—Stocks improved in quiet trading today. Grains were erratic, but closed with narrow changes and shares reached their best levels after dealings had ceased on the Chicago Board of Trade.

A few leaders were up about 3 points, while the average advance amounted to around a point and a half. The turnover, 1,562,428 shares, tallied closely with recent totals; at times the market was extremely dull.

Gains were well distributed among the industrial equities. Rails were firm but utilities lagged. Steels, "farm belt" stocks, chemicals, oils and repeat shares went higher rather easily and throughout the session the market ruled above last Friday's close.

Labor Day, traditionally the end of summer dullness in industry, approaches with business holding a surprisingly large part of its advance. Steel production, says one trade review, has slipped back a few more notches, but the same periodical looks for good fall buying. Car-loadings also maintain in general, their favorable comparisons.

Meanwhile, the market is presumably endeavoring to get its sights on the probable trend of business this autumn. Assurances that the government intends to pursue its price-lifting policy are accompanied by some conjecture as to the probable extent of purchasing power increases, as well as effects of the codes on industry itself.

WHEAT DUMPING
NOT SCHEDULEDScore of Nations Scan
Scheme to Curb Production

London, Aug. 21 (AP)—The United States will not resort to dumping to get rid of its surplus wheat if other nations fail to agree on a program to restrict production and exports, Frederick E. Murphy, American delegate, said today at the world wheat conference, resumed its work.

Representatives of more than a score of nations gathered here to continue negotiations begun in Geneva last May and carried on concurrently with the world economic conference during June and July.

Mr. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, asserted there was no idea of upsetting the market by dumping but that the United States would consider means of getting rid of its surplus should the various nations fail to reach an agreement.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said last week that unless the nations agreed on a program of wheat acreage production the United States was prepared to proceed with a plan "subsidizing exporting" to get rid of its surplus. He explained this was similar to dumping but that it would not involve abnormal shipments.

Premier R. B. Bennett of Canada was elected chairman when the conference opened in Canada House. A committee was appointed to discuss a project to establish an inter-advisory committee which would act as a permanent board in connection with any wheat agreement and probably have headquarters in London.

Another committee, technical in nature, met this afternoon to consider a draft agreement which was gone over article by article at a morning session. This pact would bind importing nations to increase their purchases by not encouraging increased domestic production, to preserve the quality of breadstuffs, to prepare to adjust customs tariffs and to declare in principle for modification of import restrictions.

Agreements thus far reached by the big four exporting nations—the United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia—are conditional on the receipt of assurances of cooperation from importing nations, such as France. The exporting nations have achieved an agreement in principle on a two-year program for acreage and export restriction and an understanding with Danubian exporters for a restriction of their combined exports.

Darkness Halts N. Y.-Chicago 18 Inning Game

SPARTANS PLAY INSURORS IN FINALS HERE TONIGHT

NEW MARK SET FOR ENDURANCE

Final Score Three-All; Teams Back Where They Started

Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—After battling through 18 innings in an effort to decide the final game of the series today, the New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox found themselves back where they started four hours and eleven minutes before as darkness ended hostilities with the score tied at three-all.

The game set a new season record for endurance in the American League and tied the mark made by the Giants and Cardinals in the senior circuit. On August 13, the White Sox dropped a 17-inning decision to the Tigers.

From the start, the fray was a closely fought affair with young Charles Devens of Harvard and Milning Gaston pitching scoreless ball for eight innings and the veteran, Herb Pennock and Urban (Red) Faber, matching wits over the latter part of the contest. Devens cracked up in the ninth when the Sox tied the score at one-all and Gaston was removed for a pinch hitter in the eleventh.

It was Devens' wildness that prevented the game from ending in the regulation nine innings with the Yankees winning 1 to 0 as the result of a three-hit attack of Gaston in the first half of the ninth. With Al Simmons on first, Devens uncoiled a wild pitch, permitting the Chicago outfielder to take third and get in position to score on Red Kress' long fly.

The Yankees scored twice more in the eleventh on hits by Dixie Walker and Ben Chapman, a base on balls to Lou Gehrig and an infield out but the Sox came right back to again tie the count and then fall when they were in position to win.

Through the remainder of the game Pennock and Faber were locked in a hurling duel, Faber allowing two hits and Pennock four.

The game will be played off with the Sox visit the Yankees at the Stadium in September.

(By The Associated Press)

Continuing to improve his batting average, Jimmy Fox yesterday cracked out two hits in four times at bat to boost his average one point, sending it to .351. Al Simmons, the only other member of the Big Six to get into action, also cracked a point to his average, connecting with three hits in the 18-inning Yankee-White Sox game. The trio of blows left him with an average of .348. The standings:

SUNDLING WINS SHOOT TROPHY

Marquette Gunners Score Sweep in Team Events at Gladstone

Gladstone—Marquette gunners continued their winning ways Sunday and annexing both of the rifle matches, made a sweep of first places in the first annual Upper Peninsula Rifle and Pistol matches staged here under the auspices of the Gladstone club during the week end.

Gladstone placed second in the rifle team championship and Art Sundling of Escanaba, shooting as a member of the team, won the Stearns trophy—Sundling and Phil Berry, c., 2 0 0 4 6 0.

PRAISES SUNDLING
Art Sundling is one of the finest target shots I have ever seen in this country. His shooting in the 200 yard, off hand match was nothing less than remarkable. The Escanaba gunner sent them all in the back for just one point less than a perfect score. This kind of shooting is the acid test of a shooter's ability to "hold." Sundling is an example of a trained man who can shoot—make no mistake about that. The Escanaba and Gladstone gunners are lucky indeed to have a teammate who not only is an expert rifleman, but a fellow who can step up in the capacity of an instructor who knows the little details that make the crack shots of this country. I congratulate Art Sundling and am glad he comes from Upper Michigan.

Claude Parmelee, Winchester shooting expert.

Bruce, also of Escanaba, took third and fourth places, respectively, in the individual match in the morning.

A. C. Carlson of Marquette, competing against 18 other gunners, took first in the individual match with a score of 189 out of a possible 200. V. C. Micklow of Marquette was second with 173. Sundling scored the same for third place. Bruce got a total of 167 for fourth, a mark that was tied by J. Luoma of Marquette, who took fifth.

HURLING CREW HAS DAY OFF

Philadelphians Wins, 12-7, to Wind Up Series With Detroit

Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—After four games of good hurling for as many victories, Detroit pitching staff collapsed today, and Philadelphia wound up the series here with a 12 to 7 victory.

Anker, Fraser and Hogsett worked for Detroit, yielding 17 hits, and giving ten free passes, seven of which figured in the scoring.

Barrett, who opened for Philadelphia did well until the sixth when Detroit got to him for three hits, one of them a home run by Greenberg with a man on. Three Detroit hits in the seventh caused Barrett's retirement, and Combs relieved him, allowing only two more hits.

Auker, making his third start for Detroit, was wild from the start. He walked three men, allowed two hits and saw two runs cross the plate before the game was well under way. He was relieved in the first inning by Vic Fraser, who fared little better at the visitors' hands.

The A's fell upon Fraser for four hits, a walk and four runs. Three of the hits were doubles in the third inning. He lasted until the seventh. Then he walked two men and was replaced by Chief Hogsett.

Walks 3 In A Row

The hits was no better, and promptly walked three more men in a row, forcing in two runs. In the eighth inning he was combed for five more hits and a pair of runs.

Barrett, who opened for Pittsburgh, had things well in hand until the sixth when Detroit staged a desperate rally. Walker got to first, and Greenberg came up, crashing out a home run. Stone followed with a triple.

Again in the seventh the Bengals found Barrett, and after he had yielded three hits, Combs was called in to take over the assignment.

Rogell and Finney featured the tying performances of the afternoon. Rogell made two circus catches of line drives, one in the fifth turning into a rapid fire double play. The Tiger shortstop caught out and speared Johnson's liner, halting what seemed to be a sure fire single. Turning, he whipped the ball to Greenberg, catching Foxx off first.

Finney made an arm armed catch in the sixth to retire Owen, taking the ball off the bleacher screen. Later he took Fraser's foul off the pavilion screen, crashing into a concrete wall. Although he was knocked out, for several minutes, Finney hung on to the ball and went back to his place as play was resumed.

We'll Catch Giants, Says Manager Frisch

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—Frankie Frisch looked as grim as the weather, which was bad and getting rapidly worse. Perhaps it was a mistake to have brought the subject up in the first place.

"The Cardinals out of it, eh? Don't be silly. It's going to be a tough job catching the Giants. Seven and one half games at this stage of the race is a nice fat juicy lead. But we've done it before. And we can do it again."

Whereupon the "Fordham Flash" of a dozen years ago, who walked off a New York college campus and into Larry Doyle's shoes at second base for the Giants, explained how it not only could, but would be done by the ball club he took over July 25 when Gabriel Street went the way of all Cardinal managerial flesh.

"Look back through the records," he said. "Look at 1930.

INDIANS DROWN REDSOX 10 TO 1

Tribe Tightens Grip on Third Position in American League

Cleveland, Aug. 21 (AP)—Monte Pearson, recruit right handed pitcher who joined Cleveland only six weeks ago, today hurled his sixth victory as the Indians swamped the Boston Red Sox, 10 to 1, to sweep the five-game series.

The triumph ran Cleveland's winning streak to seven straight and enabled the Tribe to tighten its hold on third place.

For seven innings, the game was a pitching duel between Pearson and Bob Weiland, with the Cleveland hurler having a slight edge, as the result of Bill Cissell's sixth homer of the season in the first inning.

Then in the eighth Cleveland broke loose and with seven hits, two bases on balls and an error sent eight runs across the plate. Roy Spencer batted twice during the uprising and cracked out two doubles.

Pearson granted the Red Sox nine hits but permitted more than one only in two innings.

Brewers Win From Bark River Seconds

The Brewers of Escanaba handed the Bark River second team a 7 to 4 lacing at the old brewery diamond Sunday afternoon. The Brewers collected a total of 13 hits and scored in every inning but the second and third.

This evens the two game series with the Bark River nine. A saw-off game is looked forward to in a week or two.

Then in the eighth Cleveland broke loose and with seven hits, two bases on balls and an error sent eight runs across the plate. Roy Spencer batted twice during the uprising and cracked out two doubles.

Pearson granted the Red Sox nine hits but permitted more than one only in two innings.

YOUTHS CLAIM SHOOT HONORS

Ned Lilly, Stanton, Mich. Wins North American and Junior Crown

BY JAMES L. RENICK
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Vandalia, O., Aug. 21 (AP)—Two youngsters dominated a large field of experienced shooters today in the opening program of the thirty-fourth annual Grand American handicap and walked away with three out of four championships while their elders looked on in amazement.

Ned Lilly, 17, of Stanton, Mich., who broke 199 targets out of a possible 200 despite a stiff cross-wind sweeping the traps, won the North American clay target crown.

Miss Alice Crother of Chestnut Hills, Pa., 22, finished far ahead of the feminine contingent to supplant Mrs. H. E. Grigsby of Oklahoma City, Okla., as queen of the women shooters. Miss Crothers shattered 186 targets out of 200.

A few hours before Lilly annexed the North American title he broke 100 consecutive targets to successfully defend the junior championship which he won last year. He then started on the second 100 for the North American honor.

At 126 targets, Lilly still had a perfect score, but on the 127th clay, a gust of wind caused the clay to dip suddenly

MONTCLAIR, N. J., FIGHTING GLOOM

Revival of Community Spirit Aids War on Depression

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY
Montclair, N. J. (AP)—There are smiles and banter again these mornings on the New York-bound 8.06 and 8.32. Pessimism has moved out of the smoking car, and commuters have stopped buying their monthly tickets with a glum "Heaven knows if I'll have my job long enough to use this up."

Things are better, these commuters feel, and they range in rank from corporation executives to clerks and typists. They communicate a feeling that Montclair has seen it through. A suburban community of 42,000 population, with the majority of its business-goers employed in New York, the town always has had a reputation of treating its needy well. That wasn't difficult when the community was riding the crest of the prosperity wave and no one bothered about municipal expenditures. There was no community spirit to speak of in those days.

Community Spirit Revives
But when the depression clamped down, there was a renaissance of community spirit that made "we do our part" the unphrased watchword of the town long before "blue eagles" were thought of.

Everybody pitched in to do his bit. Community gardens appeared on land donated by men with large estates. They were tended by unemployed and the produce went to the local welfare bureau for distribution. The town grocers and merchants likewise contributed for those in dire want. Swanky horse shows in summer and winter were held to raise funds to aid the distressed. Some of the town's leading women organized a women's workroom where those handy with the needle earned money sewing clothes for those who couldn't afford expensive dressmakers any longer. The workroom gave women 3915 days of work last year.

A bureau of occupations was formed to aid the white collar workers whom the welfare bureau did not reach.

A dozen different projects were set up to take care of enforced leisure, notably the popular free-time guild where with the needle various arts, crafts and studies have been given by competent instructors.

The local paper has played its part. A "box" on its front page has yet to fail in an appeal for anything from baby carriages to free blood transfusions.

More Interest in Government
With everyone watching the pennies, there has been a surprising awakening of interest in the local government. People who didn't have time for that sort of thing in '29 now jam the council meetings. They've gotten results; ratables have been lowered and there have been two reductions in the tax rate.

The town had its share of foreclosures in the dark days. In some cases to meet the mortgage situation the relief bureau paid the interest on liens where a home would otherwise be lost by default of a small payment. In other cases banks are reported to have cut interest rates from 6 to 5 per cent, applying the cut to the principal.

Rentals, leases and building are now on the upturn. The relief list is down to 800 families, a 40 per cent decrease from a

ATTY. HOWE FATALLY HURT

Nephew of Escanaban Is Killed in Auto Accident

R. R. Howe, of Milwaukee, a nephew of Herbert L. Holderman of this city, was one of two men fatally injured in an automobile collision north of Random Lake on Highway 57, near Sheboygan, Wis., early Friday.

George A. George, DePere, Wisconsin state all-events bowling champion in 1929, was dead when a passing motorist found him on the roadway, and Mr. Howe, died in the Plymouth hospital at 6 o'clock, four hours after the crash. Joseph Schumert, DePere, the third man injured, was taken to the Plymouth hospital.

Erwin Herzog, a Chilton farmer, discovered the accident at 1 a. m., as he was returning home from Racine. Noticing a white object alongside the road, he stopped, and discovered George's body. A short distance away in a corn field were the two wrecked cars. He broke off a door of one car and removed Howe who was unconscious, and as he was putting both men on a truck, Schumert, in a dazed condition appeared.

The dead men were drivers of the car, and no inquiry was held following the accident.

How the accident occurred is unknown as both cars were so badly smashed it was impossible to tell how they collided.

Howe was a patent attorney for the Allis-Chalmers Co., of West Allis. He was a graduate of Purdue university and was an attorney at Washington, D. C., for a time before moving to Milwaukee. He had lived at the Tower hotel there since 1931.

Surviving is his mother, who lives at Hammond, Ind. He was her only child. Funeral services, which Mr. and Mrs. Holderman left to attend, are to be held at Hammond.

THREE AVIATION SHOWS PLANNED

Delta Aviators Going to Laurium, Iron Mountain, Ontonagon

Delta county aviators will participate in a series of aeronautical events, which will be staged in the upper peninsula during Labor Day week.

On Saturday, Sept. 2, the airport at Laurium will be dedicated with appropriate exercises. The flyers will go to Iron Mountain on Sunday, Sept. 3, to take part in an air circus, and the next day will go to Ontonagon to put on an air show at a Labor Day celebration.

The flyers going from this county include: Walter Arntzen, Joseph Bonen, Harold Anderson, Adrian Swanson, Dr. J. B. Kitch, Escanaba; Ed Miller, Clyde Cole, Gladstone; and Ellsworth Ranguette, Nahma.

From 30 to 40 experienced pilots, many of them expert in all forms of stunting, will take part in the air circus at the Ford Airport at Iron Mountain.

The meet is being planned under the sponsorship of the newly-organized Upper Peninsula Pilots' association, of which Lieutenant Walter Arntzen, of Escanaba, is president, and Dr. A. L. Haight, of Crystal Falls, is secretary-treasurer. It is the first event of the kind to be planned by the group.

Pilots representing Marquette, Escanaba, Crystal Falls, Ontonagon, Houghton, Hancock, South Range, Iron River, Menominee, Anas, Bruce's Crossing and Iron Mountain, Washington Isle and Marinette, Wis., have already been signed up and more are in prospect. In addition it is expected that a group of flyers and planes from the U. S. army airport at Selfridge field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., will participate.

The show will feature races for ships of 125 horse-power and under, and also a free-for-all. There will be exhibitions of bomb-dropping, parachute-jumping, trick-flying demonstration. An aerial parade over the city and district will precede the show.

POLICE ARREST KIDNAP SUSPECT

Minnesota Man Believed Implicated in Hamm Abduction

Chicago, Aug. 21 (AP)—Another kidnap suspect was arrested today as federal and city officials pressed their campaign to check the current crime epidemic.

Captured with small arsenal, Arthur R. Reese, 38, of Anoka, Minn., was questioned concerning the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer. He also was asked concerning his association with Sammy Tarran of St. Paul, charged with bank robbery.

"We have learned that Reese recently visited Canada and changed currency of large denomination into bills easier to pass," said Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the United States division of investigation. "There is other evidence, also."

Reese was arrested at La Salle, Ill., and brought here. St. Paul police reported they questioned him several weeks ago about the Hamm kidnaping, but accomplished nothing toward solution of the case.

Roger Touhy and three of his Chicago gang followers were moved from Milwaukee to St. Paul to stand trial for the Hamm kidnaping. Unusual precautions were taken against any possible attempt to free the four.

Meanwhile, Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker of Chicago learned John Factor, Chicago market plunger, planned to make a ransom payment to kidnapers who abducted him several weeks ago.

Schoemaker said the men were Charles Connors, 57, former Minnesota convict, Basil Banghart, 32, ex-convict of Detroit, and Ludwig Schmidt, once associate of Gerald Chapman and George (Dutch) Anderson.

Thomas Praises Roosevelt Efforts

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—Characterizing the workings of the "new deal" as a "revolution," Norman Thomas, nationally known Socialist, today said:

"It may give us a new chance in orderly fashion to press forward." Speaking at Chautauqua Institute, Mr. Thomas paid tribute to the manner in which the people had accepted the N. R. A. saying: "If anybody in the tinsel and gift of Coolidge prosperity or Hoover adversity had prophesied such vast extension of governmental power over agriculture and industry as has actually occurred, he would have been hooted off the streets."

"Yet today the Blue Eagle flies high. . . . That such a revolution has taken place is a tribute to the capacity of the American people under effective leadership to act vigorously without too much regard for precedent. Still more, it is a tribute to vigorous and astute leadership of the president."

ROTARY OFFICER GIVES ADDRESS

Escanaba Club Visited by Governor of the District

That the development of the individual for community service is Rotary's contribution to the changed order of today, in which cooperation and general community effort for a common good has supplanted the theory of survival of the fittest, was the message brought to members of the Escanaba Rotary club last night by John Brice MacLaren of Appleton, district governor of Rotary International, when he paid his official visit to the local club.

Mr. MacLaren highly complimented the Escanaba club for the outstanding record accomplished in crippled children's work and highly lauded the unselfish service rendered in behalf of this work by Herman Gessner, who was called the outstanding leader in this great humane effort in the Tenth Rotary district.

Governor MacLaren, in a brief address, outlined the purposes of Rotary and pointed to community service being rendered by Rotary clubs throughout the world as full justification for the existence and the permanency of the organization. The address of the district governor did not stress the ideals of Rotary, but rather was made an accounting of the real contributions that have been made by the membership to the progress of the world. The address was most interestingly presented and closely held the attention of the membership to the very end.

At the conclusion of the regular meeting Governor MacLaren met the club officers and directors and committee chairman in an informal meeting, when affairs of the club were discussed and suggestions were made as to future activities.

Several Districts Raise Limitation

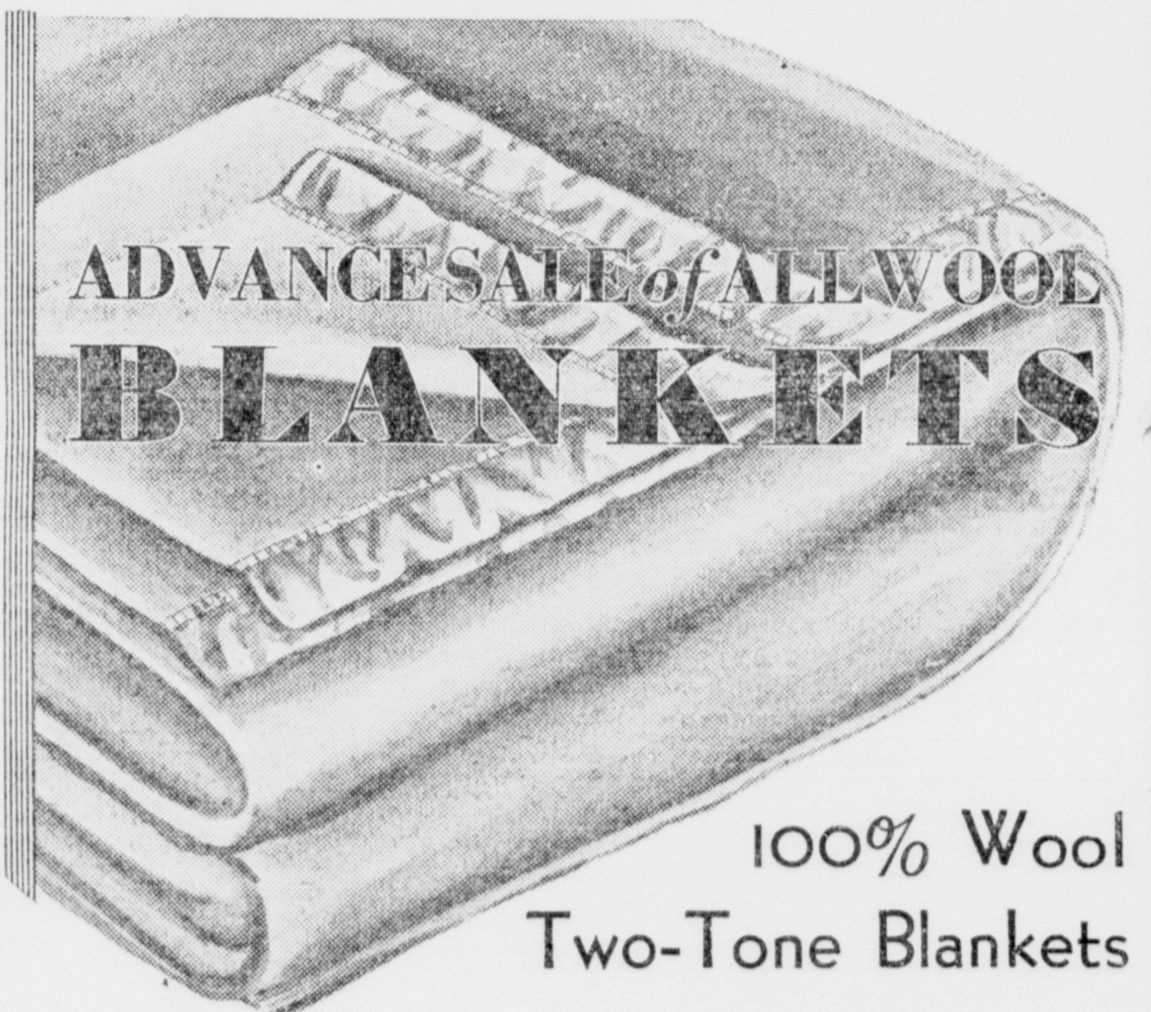

A number of school districts in the state have taken advantage of the optional clause in the fifteen mill tax limitation amendment which permits a raising of the limitation by the approval of two-thirds of the voters in the district. It is not expected, however, that many communities will take such action.
